

CIO Takes No New Steps for Labor Peace

Adopts 'Peace' Committee's Report At Conclave ACTS PROMPTLY

'No Compromise' With Organization's 'Fundamental' Aim

Pittsburgh—(AP)—The CIO convention today adopted its "peace" committee's report which did not recommend any new steps to heal the breach with the American Federation of Labor.

The delegates adopted the report unanimously by a standing vote just before adjourning for lunch.

The report, read by Philip Murray, vice chairman of the convention, declared there could be "no compromise" with the CIO's "fundamental purpose and aim of organizing workers into powerful industrial unions, nor with its obligation to fully protect the rights and interests of all its members and affiliated organizations." It added:

"The CIO accepts the goal of unity in the labor movement and declared any program for the attainment of such a goal must embrace as an essential prelude those fundamental purposes and principles."

Opposes Delay

Van A. Bittner, regional director of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee, opposed a move to table the report to permit additional debate, declaring:

"While we want and desire an honorable peace with the A. F. of L., and want labor unity in the United States, that is not the paramount question before this convention."

The paramount question, said Bittner, is the establishing of the CIO, and "organizing the unorganized workers of the country."

Heywood Brown, president of the American Newspaper Guild, made the motion to table the report, but withdrew it after Murray told the 60 delegates:

"The resolution opens wide the door to labor unity. It does not deny the president's desires for peace in labor."

Lewis Elated

John L. Lewis, chairman of the CIO, sat through the debate, smiling at times as speaker after speaker arose and defended the position he had taken in the opening session yesterday—that peace must come only upon the CIO's terms.

The speakers included Michael Quill, president of the Transport Workers union, who urged quick adoption of the report for fear the convention might "turn into a waiting wall" for peace.

Lieutenant Governor Thomas Kennedy of Pennsylvania, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, brought up the charge he said was made yesterday by William Green, president of the A. F. of L., that the mine workers membership figures were padded.

"I brand Green an unmitigated liar," said the usually quiet spoken Kennedy.

The committee's report, formulated in conference last night, followed President Roosevelt's appeal yesterday for peace between the John L. Lewis union and the American Federation of Labor.

Outlines Conferences

The report, an eight-page document, recited the history of the conferences between the CIO and the A. F. of L. which began Oct. 25, 1937, in Washington and broke up in disagreement less than two months later.

The first hitch in these negotiations developed, the report stated, when the CIO committee requested:

Born 20 Years Too Soon

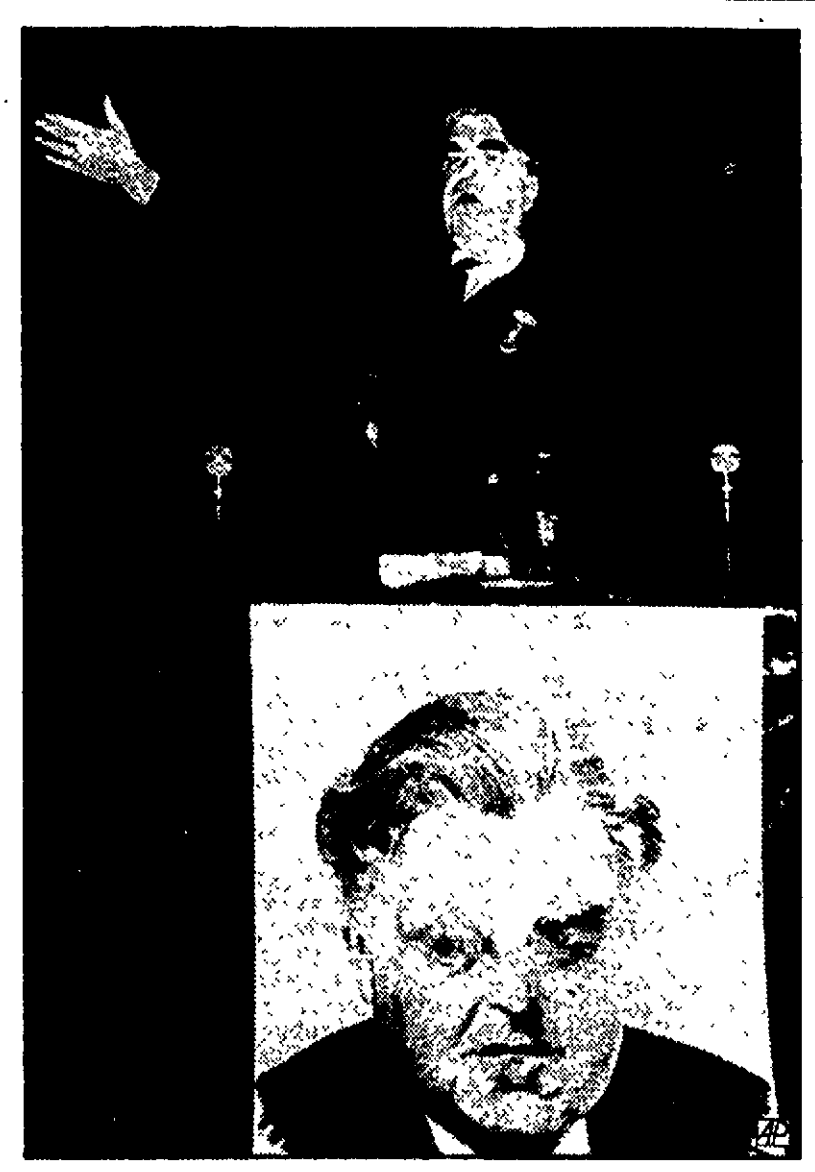

In Gary, Indiana, there was a regular "birth boom" last month. 257 birth certificates were issued, but at least 50 of them were young men and women all over 20 years of age. It seems that various government agencies insist on age proofs and in those cases of lost certificates, etc., the applicants have to be "re-born."

U. S. and Britain Consider Plan To Help Refugees; Ambassador Called Home for Consultation

London—(AP)—The British government today gave urgent consideration to a bold scheme under which the United States and the British Empire would find homes for thousands of German Jews seeking refuge from violence and restrictive laws in Germany.

United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, who has been working day and night on the problem since the latest wave of anti-Jewish violence began, was believed to be the author of the plan.

It was understood on the highest authority that Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, after a long session with the ambassador, had agreed to cooperate in the plan to move thousands of Jews.

Chamberlain weighed the plan as increasing signs developed of dissent within his own conservative party from his plans for understanding with Germany, already hampered by British resentment at the Nazi anti-Jewish campaign.

In government circles it was said the American ambassador was influencing the British government toward taking the lead in dealing with the plight of the Jews.

(In Washington, Secretary Hull disclaimed knowledge of reports the British and American governments were planning a joint step to help German Jews.)

The "Kennedy plan," it was understood, aims at moving Jews by

Ask Clemency for Eight at Waukesha

Petitions Being Circulated Asking LaFollette To Act

Waukesha, Wis.—(AP)—Petitions are being circulated in Waukesha county requesting clemency from Governor Philip LaFollette for eight defendants convicted last summer of conspiracy to violate state gambling laws by setting up slot machines.

The eight men, whose sentences of six months in the house of correction were affirmed by the state supreme court last week, are A. Joseph Martin, Garland "Gob" Buckeye, Otto Schroeder, Clarence Seider, Edward Woodruff, Joseph Jaquet, Paul Nowatske and Hubert Voss.

Clemency is asked on the ground that the offense of conspiracy "was predicated on the operation of slot machines, for which offense each of said persons on their pleas of guilty was previously sentenced to and did pay a fine of $250 to $450."

Schroeder said the petitions probably would be presented to the governor about the middle of December.

Counsel for the eight men and also for former Sheriff Walter Liskowitz, who was sentenced to six months in the house of correction on a charge of malfeasance, said they would file motions for rehearing before the supreme court, which also upheld Liskowitz's sentence.

Buckman and George Face Perjury Charges

Chicago—(AP)—Indictments charging three Madison, Wis., men with perjury were returned today by the federal grand jury before Judge James H. Wilkerson.

Those named were Burton E. Buckman, Louis C. George and Attorney Perry A. Sletland who were accused of testifying falsely in federal securities and exchange commission hearing in Chicago last year. Bond was set at $5,000 each.

Support TVA In Competition With Utilities

U. S. Spokesmen Uphold Authority's Right to Sell Power

BEFORE HIGH COURT

Division Chiefs Say Agency Is Functioning Properly

Washington—(AP)—Government spokesmen argued today before the supreme court that the Tennessee Valley Authority had a constitutional right to dispose of its electricity in competition with private power companies.

Defending the TVA power program against an attack from 15 utilities, James Lawrence Fly, the authority's general counsel, asserted the electricity was produced in connection with "the improvement of navigation and the control of destructive floods."

In addition, he said the construction of TVA dams "greatly enhances the value and usefulness for the national defense" of the government's power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals.

His colleague, John Lord O'Brien, special TVA counsel, contended the private utilities "have no standing" to maintain the suit because "the only competition which will cause damage to any of them is the competition of the municipalities (which buy TVA power), and such competition does not involve legal injury."

"The loss of business due to lawful municipal competition constitutes no legal injury," he asserted, adding that the supreme court had so held.

Division Heads Report

Five division chiefs of the Tennessee Valley Authority declared today the agency was functioning not only in producing electric power but in shaping and directing the activities of the communities within its scope.

The reports of the division directors were filed with the congressional committee investigating TVA when it resumed hearings.

Accepting the reports for further study, the committee cleared the way for testimony from four utilities executives criticizing allocations of power costs made by the TVA in establishing its "yardstick" of electricity rates.

The utilities representatives charged power costs were underestimated, thus permitting an electric rate destructive to private competition.

The report of the TVA planning department denied there had been any attempt to "superimpose an inflexible physical plan on the valley."

General Motors Maps Security Plan for Hourly Wage Group

Detroit—(AP)—General Motors corporation announced today two benefit plans intended to assure hourly wage employees of weekly incomes throughout the year.

Chairman Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., said about 150,000 workers would fall within the scope of the plans.

The plans represent a large-scale attempt to level off the income "peaks" and "valleys" inherent in the seasonal automotive industry by using resources of the industry's largest corporation as a stabilization factor.

Employees with five or more years of service will be entitled to advances in periods or curtailed employment sufficient to bring their aggregate weekly incomes from all sources to 60 per cent of their standard weekly earnings. That plan will be known as the "General Motors income security plan."

"Every employee eligible under the (income security) plan," Sloan said, "is enabled to make his personal arrangements for a full year ahead with assurances that in no week will his income be less than 60 per cent of standard weekly earnings."

Clintonville Aldermen Vote To Appeal Case While Monty Supporters Parade Streets

Clintonville—While a parade on behalf of "Chief" J. J. Monty was in progress, Clintonville aldermen at an adjourned meeting last night voted to appeal Judge Byron Park's writ of mandamus directing officials to restore the 70-year-old man as chief of police and pay him back salary since last May. The vote was 5 to 4 with Alderman Henry Berchardt, a Monty supporter, watching the street parade while the council acted on the matter.

The parade, complete with torches, noisemakers, a band and various signs, got underway about 7 o'clock last evening and it was the intention of the organizers to disband at the city hall when the council meeting began at 7:30. It was 8 o'clock by the time the marchers jammed the council and the vote had been taken before they could be heard.

Monty, chief for 27 years, contended the council exceeded its authority in demoting him at the initial meeting of the new council last May from chief to policeman with a cut from $125 to $100 in salary. He refused to accept the demotion and was suspended. Later he was discharged from the force but has been reporting for duty daily.

Oswald Goerlinger was named chief to succeed Monty and has been reporting daily, collecting the $125 monthly salary that goes with the office.

Judge Park's decision was rendered last Wednesday and the writ was directed at Mayor A. A. Washburn and City Clerk S. J. Tilleson.

Among the signs borne in the colorful parade were "Hail To Our Chief" and "Justice Has Been Done." It was reported the Taxpayers' league sponsored the parade and about 50 cars loaded with sympathizers followed the marchers.

Alderman Albert Winter moved that the city appeal the decision to the supreme court and Alderman H. M. Jesse supported the motion. Those voting for the appeal were Aldermen Fred Gansen, Louis Krause, Fred Tanner, Jesse and Winter. Opposing the resolution were Aldermen John Talty, George Berndt, T. A. Patterson and Henry Schellien.

LaFollette Urges Government Banks To Control Money

Governor Declares Nation Requires 'Economic Thermostat'

Madison—(AP)—Governor Philip F. LaFollette today welcomed 400 delegates to the thirty-fourth national convention of the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of America, asserting the country requires an "economic thermostat" which can be obtained only through government and government-controlled banks.

"Without it," he said, "we will not get to first base in eliminating the violent fluctuations in prices and business conditions throughout the country."

"Control of money and credit bears the same relation to the country as blood to the human body," the governor declared. "When there is circulation of money you have a healthy country."

Governor LaFollette estimated the United States owns 55 per cent of all the gold in the world. He assailed "the burying" of the nation's gold deposit.

No Longer Live Apart

"Idle money and idle capital will always mean unemployment, disastrous farm prices, and what we understand to mean 'hard times'," he said.

"We no longer live in a world where it is every man for himself, where a devil takes the hindmost. The economic welfare of the farmer is inescapably linked with the economic welfare of the laborer."

"For better or for worse we are all—the farmer, laborer, business man and manufacturer—in the same boat. Either we all enjoy prosperity or we all suffer hard times."

Speaking on a topic that may be the subject of convention action, Kenneth W. Jones, president of the Wisconsin organization, warned that farmers must build an organization big enough to stop the importation of foreign farm products and powerful enough to maintain legislation which prohibits such imports.

Senator to Speak

National President John Vesecky of Timken, Kans., who attended a preliminary meeting of officers to discuss program arrangements, said the organization will concentrate during the next year on obtaining legal status for consumer cooperatives throughout the nation.

He forecast that enabling legislation will be introduced in the next congress.

United States Senator Joseph Lee, Oklahoma Democrat, will address the convention tomorrow night. The sessions will last through Thursday.

Henry Ohl, president of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, charged in a speech that the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture has "exploited" both the farmer and the laborer.

"So far as its activities are concerned," Ohl said, "it has all the earmarks of a company union."

The council, representing 35 farm organizations, has criticized the operation of the federal and state labor relations acts.

Accused of Forging Name of Dead Mother

Lemars, Iowa—(AP)—Mrs. Sumner Knox was confined to the women's ward of the county jail in nearby Sioux City today while Plymouth county officers tried to solve the remaining phases of the "kitchen cabinet coffin" mystery.

Mrs. Knox last year was charged with forgery for, Sheriff Frank Scholer said, allegedly forging the indorsement of her mother, Mrs. L. A. Trow, 91, on Civil war widow pension checks for five months before the body of Mrs. Trow was found Saturday in a kitchen cabinet buried in the garden at the Knox home.

County authorities renewed their search today for two persons they said they would like to question about the case.

One was Sumner Knox, husband of the woman now in jail, and the other an unidentified woman the sheriff said Mrs. Knox confessed hiring to impersonate her mother after neighbors began asking questions about the elderly woman's absence.

Dance Hall, Serving as Armory, Burns Down

Wisconsin Rapids—(AP)—A former dance hall used as an armory by the Wisconsin Rapids national guard unit was razed last night in a spectacular fire which set off stores of ammunition and destroyed equipment including four French 75 mm. field pieces.

Captain Chester Severance, commander of Battery E, said six automatic rifles and small arms and field equipment for the battery's personnel of 6 also were destroyed, along with uniforms of the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps.

Severance placed equipment value at more than $5,000. The building was insured for $11,000.

Mouse Climbs Into Canary's Cage and Helps Warble Duet

Nashville, Tenn.—(AP)—This is the story to end all stories about singing mice.

Pete Vietti heard strange noises coming from his living room several nights straight. He decided to investigate.

The next night Pete, his wife and two neighbors waited in the dimly-lit room. Soon a tiny mouse appeared near the hearth and began warbling. Not even slowing down his solo, the mouse ran up a bird cage stand and into the cage with a canary.

After nibbling a little birdseed, the mouse and canary got together on a duet which Pete said was pleasing to his ear.

The evening's musical chore completed, the mouse scampered down the cage stand, Pete said, and back into his home near the hearth.

Women are Given Secrets of Charm As School Opens

Janette Serrec Will Give Second Lesson of Series Tonight

Back to school last night went several hundred women of Appleton and neighboring communities, not to brush up on their reading, writing and arithmetic but to learn what an authority on the fine art of self-improvement thinks of the new upstart coiffure, clothes, diet and exercise.

It was opening night at the Post-Crescent's second annual charm school, with Janette Serrec, lecturer and writer on the subject of charm, as the glorified schoolmarm. The auditorium of Castle hall was transformed into a huge classroom for the occasion, as it will be again tonight and Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Because of the increased seating capacity of Castle hall, there will be plenty of tickets available at the door tonight.

Wearing a décolleté gown of silver and lame and black chiffon, brightened with a huge red rose, Miss Serrec endeavored herself to her audience with her informality. To demonstrate her high regard for milk, she drank a pint of it on the stage—straight from the bottle and without benefit of straws—and later, when one of her listeners asked her, via the written question box

France and Reich Reach Agreement

Accord Renouncing War Between Two to be Put Into Effect Soon

Paris—(AP)—A French government spokesman announced today a basis had been reached for an accord between France and Germany renouncing war against each other and hinted it would not be long before it came into force.

This was the first official confirmation that conversations which have been going on since shortly after the Munich accord of Sept. 29 have brought their objective—the renunciation of war agreement—within sight.

A foreign office spokesman said the contemplated pact would constitute an important step in developing the Munich accord, which saved European peace at the price of Czechoslovakia's dismemberment. He explained it would extend the principle of peaceful solution of international problems to cover other potential sources of trouble.

The spokesman said the pact would pledge France and Germany to use peaceful means for settling of any disputes that may arise between them. It would declare there is no frontier problem between the two countries, based on statements made by Adolf Hitler during the September crisis that Germany would not lay claim again to Alsace-Lorraine.

Lindbergh Seeks Berlin Residence for Winter

Berlin—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is hunting for a residence in Berlin for a winter's stay for himself and his family, it became known today.

Colonel Lindbergh came to Berlin last month and received the Nazi Order of the German Eagle, one of Germany's highest decorations.

Ever since the noted aviator left for France Oct. 29, officials of the German air force have been seeking to find accommodations for Lindbergh and his family.

Two Federal Indictments Announced In Chicago

NAME BUNDESEN

Charge Major Distributors Fixed Terms of Purchases

Chicago—(AP)—Approximately 100 individuals and organizations in the fluid milk and ice cream industries and allied groups were accused of anti-trust law violations today in two federal indictments.

Variances in early announcements of the number of corporate, association and individual defendants prompted United States District Attorney Michael L. Igoe to announce officially the number was 97—14 organizations and 43 individuals in the milk indictments and 20 individuals and 20 organizations in the ice cream indictment.

The milk indictment, entitled the United States of America versus the Borden company, et al., stated it covered a period from January, 1935, up to the present, and added: "The major distributors, the Pure Milk association, large middle western marketing group, and the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., carrying out a concerted plan and agreement, met jointly at divers times and places in Chicago, where they fixed and agreed upon uniform terms and conditions for the purchase of all fluid milk bought through the Pure Milk association."

Agreement Alleged

These terms and conditions included provisions as to prices, the basis for computing price, the classification of milk for the purpose of pricing, the quantity of milk to be purchased through the Pure Milk association, the time and place of delivery, and the time and terms of payment.

Beginning in March, 1935, each of the major distributors, acting under the combination alleged, entered into individual agreements with the Pure Milk association to purchase substantially all of its requirements of fluid milk from the Pure Milk association. The agreements provided that if the Pure Milk association sold or caused to be sold fluid milk to any distributor for a lower price than that provided for by the price provisions, the major distributors would be entitled to purchase milk through the Pure Milk association for the lower price.

The major distributors, it was charged, refused to purchase any fluid milk from any independent producer except at prices based upon the fixed price provisions.

Accuses Bundesen

The indictment charged that Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago Board of Health, and his associates, Paul Krueger and William J. Guerin, "in disregard for their lawful duties" as health officials and agents:

Gave preferential treatment in inspecting and approving dairy farms to member-producers and independent producers selling fluid milk to the major distributors at prices fixed and determined.

Imposed unwarranted, arbitrary, illegal and unreasonable burdens on independent producers who refused to sell their fluid milk at the fixed and determined prices.

Refused to respect dairy farms of independent producers who desired to sell fluid milk to independent distributors in Chicago but who refused to sell at the fixed prices, "notwithstanding the fact that, as was well-known to the said defendants," the dairy farms of the independents were located in close proximity to approved farms.

The indictment stated Captain Daniel Gulpert, chief of the Cook county (Chicago) state attorney's police.

Selected officers of various local teams and chauffeurs' unions who composed the joint council of the International Brotherhood of Teams, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and helpers of America, counseled and advised them and Leslie G. Gougeon, president of the council, and protected them and their agents from arrest and prosecution.

Hitch-Hiker's Victim Reported Recovering

Waukegan, Ill.—(AP)—A Chicago salesman, shot and critically wounded by a hitch-hiker late yesterday, was reported today in a "not serious" condition by St. Therese hospital attendants.

The salesman, John W. Bennett, 46, representative of the Hercules Chemical company, told police he had picked up the hitch-hiker while driving north on Skokie highway and that three miles south of Waukegan he was shot four times while resisting a holdup.

The hitch-hiker, fled, but a Chicago policeman, John Stack, driving behind Bennett telephoned Waukegan police after giving Bennett first aid. The hitch-hiker, who said he was Howard Ford, 31, of Libertyville, was captured a few minutes later.

Bennett was shot with a .22 caliber pistol.

Ford was captured by police answering a radio alarm.

Program Aims at 7,500,000-Acre Crop Reduction

Wallace Gives Approval To 1939 Soil Conservation Plan

Washington—Secretary Wallace approved today a 1939 soil conservation program providing for a reduction of about 7,500,000 acres in the total allotment for major crops.

The new maximum for soil-depleting crops of participating farmers will be from 270,000,000 to 285,000,000 acres. It will be lower than this year chiefly because of a reduced wheat allotment.

Congress has allotted $712,000,000 for benefits to farmers who comply.

The program, which is voluntary, is separate from the marketing quota provisions of the crop control act, which may become mandatory under certain conditions.

The voluntary program will follow the general outline announced Aug. 16. At that time next year's wheat allotment was fixed at 55,000,000 acres, compared with a seeded acreage of 80,000,000 this year and an allotment of 62,500,000 acres.

Goals for cotton, corn, rice, flue-cured tobacco and general soil-depleting crops will be virtually the same next year.

Events First Test

R. M. Evans, agricultural adjustment administrator, declared that the 1938 program would offer the first complete test of the crop control law because the latter measure was enacted too late to affect all 1938 planting.

The AAA will conduct meetings throughout the country during the next few months to explain the program to farmers in advance of the planting season.

The corn acreage allotted in the commercial area will remain at from 94,000,000 to 97,000,000.

Rates of subsidies to cooperating farmers were announced as follows:

Wheat, 17 cents a bushel and an estimated price adjustment payment of from 10 to 12 cents a bushel, making a total of from 27 to 29 cents compared with a payment of 12 cents this year.

Corn, 8 cents a bushel and an estimated adjustment payment of from 5 to 6 cents, giving a total of 14 to 15 cents compared to a 1938 payment of 10 cents.

There were no price adjustment payments under this year's program. AAA officials said final determination of the 1938 rate would depend on price of the commodities.

Collect $1,100 For Decorations

College Avenue Will be Lighted for Yule Season by Nov. 25

Kenneth Corbett, Chamber of Commerce secretary, said today more than $1,100 has been subscribed by Appleton merchants to finance College avenue Christmas decorations and other Yule activities.

The decorations, which will cost about $900, this year will consist of lighted arches, about three to each block along College avenue. The arches will be decorated with evergreen and lighted stars will hang at the center of each. The Santa Claus faces which decorated the avenue last year, will be installed on alternate light posts.

Louis Luebke, city electrical inspector, who is supervising the work, said all messenger wires have been installed and his crew now is working on the wire and sockets for the lights. It is expected the avenue will be lighted about Nov. 25.

On the Chamber of Commerce decoration committee are Clark Teel, chairman, Forest Muck, Louis Luebke, William Peterson, Earl Miller, Lester Asmus and Raymond Eichelberger.

County Police Travel 15,925 Miles in Month

Outagamie county traffic officers traveled a total of 15,925 miles on duty last month, according to a report of Captain Charles Steidl. Thirty-two arrests were made. The police investigated 17 accidents and gave 37 warnings. A total of 42 drivers' tests were given during the month.

At Least $8,300,000 in Road Funds 'Loaned' to Run State

Madison—"The state has 'temporarily borrowed' a minimum of $8,300,000 in highway tax receipts for general state purposes during the last seven years," the Wisconsin Taxpayers alliance reported today.

"Unexpected highway balances on July 1, 1938, amounted to $23,100,000, a higher amount than at any time in the history of the state. The total cash on hand in the state general fund on the same date was only $14,800,000. There were claims of several million dollars against this cash in addition to the highway balances. The difference of $8,300,000 presents clear-cut evidence that at least this amount of highway revenues has been used for general state purposes."

The present law provides that the state highway commission shall have the right to spend collections

Charles Eagle Plume Will Present Lyceum Program at School

Charles Eagle Plume, one of America's foremost interpreters of Indian lore, life and culture, will present a program of songs and dances Wednesday for the Appleton High school lyceum.

Eagle Plume was born and reared in Montana by a French-Indian mother and a German father. From his old grandmother, a Sarcee-Blackfoot, more than anyone else, he received much of his knowledge of Indian lore. He is a graduate of the University of Colorado.

Among his interpretative dances Eagle Plume will include "The Prairie Chicken," a dance descriptive of a courtship of young girls by the braves. All of his costumes are authentic. Eagle Plume is famous not only for his dramatic presentation of Indian anthropology but also for his keen wit and humor.

Playboy Carol Grows Serious--Der Feuhrer Has Him Worried

BACKGROUND
(It used to be that when people read a headline about Carol of Rumania, they expected to find something in the story about a girl friend, too. But the playboy king has turned more serious of late--even seen as a possible bulwark against Hitler in the Balkans. This article discusses his latest maneuvers.)

BY WILLIAM MCGAFFIN
London—(AP)—King Carol's visit to London beginning Nov. 15 will be more than just a social call on his English cousin, King George. Rumania is on the spot--squarely in the path of Adolf Hitler's economic and perhaps political drive to the southeast. As an out, Rumania's playboy--turned--dictator, they say, has chosen the hazardous task of trying to carry war on both shoulders without getting wet.

Tall, moustached Carol greatly fears domination by authoritarian Germany. Yet he may feel that increased trade with Germany is essential to achieve his dearest desire of leading his country to prosperity.

How can he eat with, without being eaten by, the Nazi dragon? Perhaps it will be by dining in the comforting shadow of a British St. George.

So he wants to increase trade with Great Britain, too. The material benefits of the British market would be important, but minute compared to the Hitler assurance he hopes to gain.

Up to now little has been done in Britain outside of developing a Menasha had charge of morning services and the Rev. A. Gentz, Marinette, preached in the evening. "Number Nine"

"Number Nine" was the title of the sermon given by the Rev. Robert K. Bell, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church, Sunday morning at his church. At St. John Evangelical and reformed church the Rev. A. Guenther preached on "The Privilege Won."

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist. The following passage was read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In divine science God and the real man are inseparable as divine principle and idea. God is the principle of man, and man is the idea of God. Hence man is not mortal nor material. Mortals will disappear, and immortals, or the children of God, will appear as the only and eternal verities of man."

Hold Man in Death Of His Infant Son

Charged With Involuntary Manslaughter After Slapping Child

Chicago—(AP)—Ralph Koch, 24, remained in the suburban Morton Grove jail today after attending an inquest and funeral services for his infant son, whose death, police said, Koch told them, occurred after he had slapped him.

Koch, charged with involuntary manslaughter, collapsed and sobbed at the inquest yesterday when the baby's body was brought into the room. Koch's wife, Marcia, 20, was the only witness to testify at the inquest, which was continued until Nov. 22. She testified that their four-month-old son, Tod, died Friday night after she had left him in Koch's care when she went to work.

Last Friday night Koch walked into state police headquarters in Norwood Park and, Policeman Irwin Schmidt reported, said: "I think I killed my baby."

After the inquest, Koch's counsel said "I believe there is a distinct possibility the whole thing is accidental." He said the baby's head might have been bumped in an automobile ride with the parents earlier in the day.

Producers Move to Cut Butter Stocks

Cincinnati—(AP)—N. P. Hull of Lansing, Mich., president of the National Cooperative Milk Producers' Federation told federation conference delegates yesterday a campaign to dispose of "excessive" storage stocks of butter, which would result in lower prices, would start in mid-December.

Hull estimated the butter storage stock at 100,000,000 pounds above normal supply, and said the campaign was planned to avoid "the possibility of a permanent surplus."

The federation president added that a permanent program involving expenditure of between $800,000 and $1,000,000, was being drafted to stimulate the use of all dairy products.

Heil Faces Difficult Task Of Making Good on Campaign Promises of State Economy

Editor's Note: This is another in the series of articles from this newspaper's state capital bureau discussing the implications of last week's Republican landslide in the state.)

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD
Madison—When the joy of Governor-Elect Heil's magnificent endorsement wears off and the new chief executive of Wisconsin sits behind the big desk which will be his for the two years after January 1, he will find as he plunges into the affairs of state that the job for which he volunteered and was accepted will be no lack.

He will discover that state revenues are falling, that his plans for economy will fly in the face of demands for expenditures which it will take a lot of courage to gain. Pensions, an inevitably big relief appropriation, state aids, these will be the things which will give the state's new, 62 year old executive long hours of work during the next biennium.

No one who is familiar with the operation of the state government can doubt that economies in personnel and administrative costs are possible. But even the most stringent paring will not make much of an impression on the state budget. And it will require much more courage than most politicians possess to cut where the cutting will show results, in state aids, for example.

Smaller Highway Aids

A reduction in highway aids—which must result if the Republican pledge for a halving of auto license fees is fulfilled—will mean the strongest pressure from the multitude of groups which have successfully battled for them. Cutting educational or charitable aids is likewise a risky business. Relief and pension aids fall in the same category. Any diminution of the money which the state sends into local coffers will mean a howl which will be heard round the state.

As the Wisconsin Taxpayers' alliance pointed out this week, the state government has apparently managed its budget during the last five years by using funds which were appropriated to the state highway commission for highway purposes. If the Republicans—as many of them have already declared they favor—inaugurate a segregated highway fund, and continue to use all highway receipts for highways, it will necessitate increased taxes, or widespread economies if the state budget is to be balanced. And the state budget must be balanced, because borrowing by the state is constitutionally impossible.

Indiana Parties Talk of Recounts After Close Races

Disputes Arise Over Results of Several Contests in State

Indianapolis—(AP)—Republicans and Democrats talked of recounts today after an off-year election so close that the results of several contests still were matters of much controversy.

G. O. P. leaders began collecting a $15,000 fund to pay for a recount of votes for United States senator and state officials in six counties—Marion, Lake, Vanderburgh, Vigo, Sullivan and Vermillion.

Heavy Democratic pluralities in these counties helped United States Senator Frederick Van Nuys squeeze through to reelection over Raymond E. Willis, Republican, in an unofficial tabulation.

Democratic officials, on the other hand, said they might ask recounts in the contest for secretary of state in Porter, Randolph and Wayne counties and for state representatives in Knox and Laporte counties.

G. O. P. Captures House
An Associated Press tabulation shows James M. Tucker of Paoli, Republican, edged out Edward D. Koeneemann of Evansville for secretary of state. Republicans captured the Indiana house of representatives for the first time since 1929, electing 51 members to 49 for the Democrats.

In Laporte county, unofficial returns showed Representative Martin T. Krueger, Democrat, lost for reelection by 48 votes to Walter Danielson, Jr. Krueger is declared winner on a recount, the house would be equally divided.

Besides Tucker, Republicans claimed election of Edgar Durre of Evansville and Dan C. Flanagan of Fort Wayne to two seats on the appellate court on the basis of unofficial returns.

The same returns gave the other two seats to A. J. Stevenson of Danville and Judge Harvey J. Curtis of Gary.

Last night the Democratic state committee put out another set of unofficial figures which indicated two other Democrats, William H. Bridwell of Sullivan and Huber M. Devoss of Decatur, got the seats credited to the Republicans.

Accident Is Fatal to Green Bay Farm Youth

Burlington, Wis.—(AP)—Harvey Sconzett, 118, of Route 2, Green Bay, died yesterday as the result of internal injuries suffered Sunday when he fell through the doorway and under the wheels of a moving automobile near Mukwonago.

His death brought to 19 the total of persons injured fatally or drowned in Wisconsin over the week-end.

Bar Group Opposed to Law Clerk at Green Bay

Green Bay—(AP)—The Brown County Bar association yesterday defeated a resolution requesting the county board to appoint a law clerk to relieve circuit court congestion by effecting settlement of cases whenever possible. Judge Henry Graess had spoken before the association in favor of the proposal.

Robert Irwin in Plea of Guilty to Escape the Chair

District Attorney Dewey To Ask 90 Years for Killer of Three

New York—(AP)—Robert Irwin, whose disease-warped mind ranged from creation of promising sculptures and an ambition for the ministry to a maniacally twisted jealousy in which he killed three persons, faced today a lifetime in prison.

He boasted he would be free within 10 years.

Psychiatrists predicted, instead, that he would be dead within five, a victim of tuberculosis.

The 31-year old sculptor-slayer bargained protestingly yesterday to escape the electric chair.

He finally pleaded guilty to second-degree murder after creating a courtroom scene alternately enacting a screaming maniac, almost incoherent, and a crafty pleader against injustice.

A pair of old pants he abandoned with luggage in the Grand Central station when he fled after the Easter, 1937, triple-slaying on Beekman Hill, figured in the bargaining.

Just before he took the floor from the attorneys, he obtained a promise from Assistant District Attorney Jacob Rosenblum that his trousers would be returned if he pleaded guilty.

Irwin stabbed and plucked Veronica Gedeon, a beautiful photographer's model; her mother, and a boarder, Frank Byrnes, in the modest Gedeon apartment on the midtown east side.

Was Divinity Student

By the strange machinations of his mind the crimes were committed in vengeance for the failure of his suit for the affections of Veronica's sister, now Mrs. Ethel Kudner, whom he met as a Gedeon boarder after his expulsion from divinity studies at St. Lawrence University and release from various insane asylums.

"There was nothing malicious in what I did," Irwin told the court, as he admitted the slayings.

Screaming, and with hatred in his eyes, he called the prosecution staff "professional liars" and turned on his guards to say: "How abominably you treated me! You dirty dogs!"

He concluded his colloquy with the judge by saying: "I prophesy to you that before 10 years I will be out."

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey said he would demand a sentence of 90 years to life (the minimum is 20 years) for each of the murders, to run consecutively, in order "that the community be permanently protected against Irwin's possible return to society."

Irwin will be sentenced Nov. 28 and be taken to Sing Sing and from there probably to a prison for the criminal insane.

Defense Counsel Samuel Leibowitz, retaining his long reputation of never losing a killer to the electric chair, said Irwin's boast that he would be out of prison in 10 years was based on a belief that he can "melt the iron bars."

Way Cleared to Re-Open Kenosha Hosiery Plant

Kenosha—(AP)—Approval of negotiations between the Allen-A company, the Kenosha Full-Fashioned Mills, Inc., and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation paved the way for re-opening the former Allen-A Hosiery manufacturing plant here today.

The agreement was reached last night. Kenosha Full-Fashioned Mills, Inc., was organized to buy the Allen-A plant and equipment. The company moved from Kenosha last March.

Richard Edge, president and general manager of the new company which received a $400,000 loan from the RFC, said that within four months the company would have a payroll of 750, with a production schedule of 30,000 dozen pairs of women's hosiery per month.

Next CCC Enrolment To be Held in January

The next Outagamie county enrolment for the CCC will be held in January. Miss Madylin Newell, supervisor of the county public welfare department, said today.

The county's quota has not yet been set, but the department is already accepting applications, Miss Newell said.

Medicinal 'Snuff' Is Used to Treat Ulcers

Oklahoma City—(AP)—A whiff of medicinal "snuff" was reported today as the newest and most successful treatment of stomach ulcers, one of the commonest complaints of fast-living civilized man.

The "snuff" treatment, announced to the Southern Medical association by Dr. M. Hill Metz and Dr. Robert W. Lackey of Baylor university, Dallas, has been found effective in 55 out of 60 cases on which it was tried.

A finely-ground powder made from the rear half of the pituitary glands of animals is the special snuff used, they said.

Recent Events in Reich Send U. S. Ambassador Home

Lawrence Says Action Meant to Register American Disapproval

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—The government of the United States has manifested to the government of Germany the profound impression which the recent outbursts of Nazis against innocent men, women and children has made upon the people of America.

The instructions issued in the last 24 hours to the American ambassador at Berlin to come to Washington for reports and consultation were announced orally to the press, and it was learned that recent events in Germany were the direct cause of the order.

Technically, this does not mean a severance of diplomatic relations, nor is it possible to describe the action as the formal recall of an ambassador, because the department of state does not indicate the length of time Ambassador Hugh Wilson is to remain in the United States.

The purpose of the action, however, is clear. It was intended to register America's disapproval of what has happened and to generate a discussion on all sides as to what civilized nations can do to check the barbarisms of the Nazi government. The Nazis, no doubt, will seek to construe the event as a routine affair, but, on the other hand, official information given out here was to the effect that the ambassador's orders to come home were in connection with "recent happenings in Germany" so there can be no doubt that the American government has chosen this way to indicate to the whole world that the United States is deeply moved by the cruel course of action adopted by the Nazis.

May Recall German

If the Nazis take the hint, the German government may recall her ambassador, too. This sometimes completes the act which is not exactly a break in diplomatic relations, but the beginning of a cool spell. The business of the American embassy will be conducted by a charge d'affaires for an indefinite period of time. The German ambassador here is personally on good terms with the American government, and while apparently, his representations concerning the American point of view are totally disregarded in Berlin, there is nothing to indicate that the United States government wants the German ambassador to leave. As a matter of fact, the department of state has been talking directly to the German ambassador here on many of the tangled questions of the day, rather than through the embassy in Berlin, leaving the latter course for incidents arising out of the specific rights of Americans.

Mr. Wilson is a trained diplomat and has been particularly useful in gathering information concerning events inside Germany. The instructions for him to return home to report will in a practical way mean little, because the government here has already been informed by cable, radio and telephone of the essential points in the Nazi campaign of terrorism.

Insult America

It may be asked on what grounds of international law the order to the American ambassador was issued, especially since the treatment of persons within German boundaries is not customarily a subject for action by another country. In this instance, the inhuman nature of the treatment of minority population is a basic cause, but it would not be surprising if the insulting tone of the German cabinet's warnings to the American press as to what they may or may not discuss had more to do with it than any other single factor. When a foreign government undertakes to threaten the press of this country and to state publicly that innocent persons will be injured unless the American press adopts a different course, it amounts to foreign coercion of American institutions, and this is something which no government of the last two years must re-register if they wish to vote in the spring elections.

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD Staff Correspondent

Madison — By this time there have been post mortems aplenty on the recent political revolution in Wisconsin. There have been "I told you so's" by the cracker barrel political scientists, belated explanations and theorizing by politicians. But one thing stands out clearly after the tumult of the most amazing elections in decades dies away: the landslide which swept an entire Republican ticket into the state capitol was unexpected, even by the Republicans themselves.

The political sage at the desk next to you in the office may be chortling with satisfaction because he says he predicted it. This department suggests that you point out these facts to him:

At the Republican state convention this summer, party leaders failed, although they certainly tried, to persuade any of their available candidates to run for governor, with the result that Julius Heil refused the convention's endorsement, went unopposed in his own party at the primary.

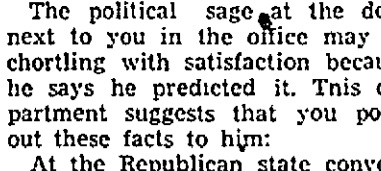

At least one prominent Republican who has been hankering for a try at a high office, M. G. Eberlein of Shawano, to this correspondent's knowledge, told the ticket shapers at the convention that he didn't want to "sacrifice" himself by running against LaFollette.

TIMBER SCARCITY

The rush of candidates—six of the most prominent G. O. P. leaders in the state—to file their candidacies against Senator Duffy can only be interpreted to mean that these leading party men felt that they had a pretty poor chance against Governor LaFollette.

In some of the legislative and congressional districts party members anxious to fill out the tickets had a hard time inducing candidates to come out.

This can be illustrated in the second district, long the principal-ity of Madison's Harry Sauthoff. Two years ago Charles Hawks, Jr., of Horicon ran against Sauthoff, failed to make a dent in the latter's following. This year Ed. J.

Wyngaard

character will tolerate from another.

Although nothing has been said officially about it, there is every reason to believe that Ambassador Wilson will not return to Germany unless the Nazi government shows a decided change in its policy toward minorities as well as toward the property and persons of American citizens resident abroad. As to the so-called "spontaneous" uprisings of the "German people" against Jewish merchants and their properties, it may be taken for granted that mobs will in the future be unable to distinguish between foreign-owned and German-owned properties. When a central government has so little regard for the damage and injury which may befall foreigners and itself incites the riots, then foreign governments naturally become apprehensive lest further outbursts will directly affect foreign lives and property.

Not Sincere

The Nazi government's explanation that the riots were not inspired or incited by the Fascists themselves were not accepted here as sincere, especially since a German cabinet minister states he was in sympathy with the outbreaks.

The American government has witnessed the outrages against Jews and Catholics with a feeling that somehow a protest of significance should be made to bring the Nazi government to its senses. The first step has been taken, and, if American public opinion approves, there may yet be a complete break in diplomatic relations. For the question now really is whether the American people wish to ostracize the Nazis and have no further intercourse with them while the barbaric policies are maintained. On the response which the first step has received will depend future steps in the evolution of America's historic position of expressing sympathy with oppressed peoples. (Copyright, 1938)

Samp, long time party boss, decided that he wanted to run for the senate, and in order to get help in the Progressive district in which he lived, he asked Hawks to get on the ticket again. Hawks refused, saying that he had bumped his head "against a stone wall" once, and it was enough. Samp persisted, had Hawks' nomination papers circulated, and finally induced him to try again.

Hawks last Tuesday beat the unbeatable Sauthoff. It is hard to say of which was the more surprised Wednesday morning.

OTHERS SURPRISED

Nor did the Democrats have any inkling of the avalanche which was to engulf them. This can be shown by citing John E. Cashman, state senator from the first district. Cashman dearly loved his senate seat, pondered long and seriously about the chances for a congressional victory this year. He finally decided to run for the congress seat. Had this hard-shelled veteran any suspicion of the drift, he would have run for the senate again. For the senate seat was certain to be his. It is now held by one of his party followers and friends, F. A. Yank.

They may have suspected a defeat, but Progressives were also dismayed and surprised at the torrential outpouring of Republican ballots, although Gov. LaFollette and his satellites now bravely assure the press that they had sensed the tide.

Can anyone suppose that if Gov. LaFollette had known he was to be beaten so unmercifully he would have allowed himself to be nominated again? Isn't it more plausible to say that he would have given the nomination to another in his party, so that the rousing repudiation which was in store would not have fallen upon him? Or would all the efforts to boom Ekern have been made? Or would Congressman G. J. Boileau have forsaken his ambition to run for the senate had he known that Reid Murray would beat him in his own district? It is to be doubted.

Nor did the political reporters who make their living by watching and writing about affairs political realize what was to come. Or could every neutral observer have been wrong by 100,000 to 150,000 votes?

The election of last Tuesday was not only a landslide like the like of which Wisconsin has seldom before seen. It was a totally unanticipated landslide.

ELECTORAL CURIOS

Theodore Dammann will be succeeded in the secretary of state's office by the man whom he succeeded 12 years ago, Fred R. Zimmerman. . . . Zimmerman after sinking into complete obscurity, starts the reascend of the political ladder at the point which he discarded 12 years ago to become governor. . . . Attorney General Orland S. Loomis is the first attorney general of Wisconsin to be refused reelection. . . . Governor LaFollette, turned down in his quest for an unprecedented fourth term, may console himself that he will have his name inscribed in the Blue Book forever after as one of four governors who have been elected three times, and the fact that his family has held the executive office for 12 years, and a U. S. senate seat for 32. . . . The man whom many Progressive regulars disliked because his loyalty to the party was suspect, erstwhile Republican Phil Nelson, saved the day for the Progressive party in his district by being elected up in Douglas county. . . . Paul Anfonis, who was so sure of being chosen speaker of the assembly a month ago, will next session take orders from a Republican who bowed under Alfonso's rulings in the 1937 sessions. . . .

HEIL AND HISTORY

Julius P. Heil will go down in the annals of Middlewestern politics as "the man who beat LaFollette." State capital correspondents are now writing pieces for outside papers, whose editors after looking at the figures want explanations for the worst defeat the famous political dynasty of Wisconsin has ever suffered.

ACADEMIC ALARM

University of Wisconsin officials were showing worry last week when they looked at election returns and the voters' pledges to trim state budgets.

President Dykstra and his college heads had expected increased appropriations for the next biennium, had already worked out an ambitious building program. Now they're wondering whether they'll get what they got last year, or approximately $4,000,000.

University expenditures have jumped almost 25 per cent in the last five years, with the budget growing from $3,000,000 in 1933-34 to almost $4,000,000 this year. Right now it costs the people of Wisconsin, in round figures, $400 for each one of the 10,000 students enrolled at the state school.

PATRONAGE BOSS

Last Tuesday was a sorry day for the Democrats of Wisconsin. From a position of over-whelming control only four years ago they have fallen to a hapless and helpless minority position. The only one who has any cause for satisfaction out of the situation among the whole group of leaders of the party in the state is C. E. Broughton, the Sheboygan editor-politician who as national committeeman will now be the only patronage outlet for the national administration in the state. And remember that the New Deal will have jobs to dispense for at least two more years.

Municipal Court Receipts Amount To $9,521 in Year

Fines, fees and costs collected in municipal court during the year ended Nov. 1 amounted to $9,521.61, according to a report compiled by William R. Kreiss, municipal court reporter, for Judge Thomas H. Ryan. The report will be presented to the county board at its November session which opened today.

State fines amounted to $1,581.60, city fines to $2,224.55 and county fines to $1,651.10. Court costs totaled $2,154.14, officers' fees $534.95, fees to city $51.10, receipts in civil actions $480.25 and miscellaneous $893.12.

Council to Study Tax Problems at Meeting Tonight

Aldermen Also May Act On Proposed Bicycle Ordinance

Kaukauna—With next year's taxes to be set at the first meeting in December, discussion of means to pare the budget will probably come up as the common council meets at 7 o'clock tonight at the municipal building. The finance committee, of which Alderman T. L. Seggelink is now chairman, having traced places with Alderman Oscar Alger at the Nov. 1 meeting, met with Mayor Lewis F. Nelson, Attorney Harry F. McAndrews and City Clerk Lester J. Brenzel Sunday afternoon and discussed possibilities of economy for next year.

Last January the city's departments were placed on a budget system and a tax rate of $25 per $1,000 of assessed valuation set to run the city. This will not be enough, as Alger has estimated a deficit of at least $28,000 is coming up.

It will be up to the aldermen to make provision for taking care of this deficit and to set next year's budget, if possible, so that another deficit will not be at hand at the end of 1939. It will be difficult to do, as some of the city departments must have even larger appropriations for next year, according to their expenditures in the year now ending. The relief department, for example, was given an appropriation of $20,000, and will have spent at least $25,000 before the year is over.

Expect Increase

Taking the city's assessed valuation of $8,000,000, making up the $28,000 deficit would mean an additional tax of about $3.70 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. There has been talk, however, of borrowing money on long term at low interest rates, so as to make a saving here, as no doubts, however, that some increase in the tax rate will be necessary.

Also on the council's slate for tonight will be discussion of an ordinance regulating the use of bicycles. The measure provides that bicycles be licensed and identification tags affixed to them. Traffic regulations which must be observed are listed and penalties provided for their violation. Not until three violations had been reported would a defendant be bailed into court, with a fine of $1 and costs the usual result of this last enforcement measure.

Kaukauna—The D and I Motor Sales took three games from the Ritz Tavern five in major league bowling last night to go into a tie for first place with Schell's Alleys. The latter could win only one of three games against Hakbarth's Tavern, and were forced to share the lead for the first time this year.

Ed Kalupa led the Sales with a 544 series on counts of 186, 185 and 173, while Cully Engerson paced the Ritz Tavern quintet with a 507 total on games of 146, 181 and 180. Fred Hakbarth's 570 on lines of 172, 210 and 188 led his team over the Schell five, with Bob Martzahl having 587 on 163, 168 and 256 for the losers. His 256 was high single game for the Major League this year. Gertz Tavern won two from the Miller High Life in the evening's third match, with Amy Bayoregon's 216, 177 and 200 for 593 topping the winners and Anton Ashauer's 625 on 171, 245 and 200 the losers.

Kaukauna Cagers Will Open Season Against Rockets

Coach Little to Build Squad Around Two Veterans

Kaukauna—With erstwhile football players slated to turn out tonight basketball gets under way in earnest at Kaukauna High school. The first home conference game will be played Nov. 25 against the Red Rockets of Neenah. Coach Paul E. Little has two returning veterans from last year around whom this year's five will be built. They are Carl Giordana, sophomore guard, and Bill Alger, lanky sophomore center. Alger was one of the team's high scorers last season, and Giordana their star defensive man.

With Giordana and Alger having a stranglehold on two posts a wide open fight is in prospect for the others, with varsity reserves of last year and members of the 1937 B team in the thick of the fight.

Bisels at Forward

Two B squad members of last year who showed some promise will not be out for the squad, Bob Derus, regular B team guard, and James Sanders, forward. Other B squad members who will attempt to move to the first string this winter are Paul Koch, Clifford Kalista, Ken Busse, Sherman Powers, James Santkyl, Leo Wolfe and Leland Scherer. On the bench as varsity reserves most of last season were Junior Swedberg, Don Bisels and Joe Blorh. Bisels saw increasing action as the season came to a close, and should lead all candidates in clinching a forward post. Swedberg and Bloch are also forwards, and will fight it out with Forwards Kalista and Busse of the B team for the other forward position.

Little's main problem would seem to be to develop the other guard. Whether he will try to convert one of his forwards into a guard remains to be seen. Cliff Kalista is the only guard coming up from the B team.

The team will miss Lee Lambie, guard, who last year was the team's leading pointmaker. Also gone are Bill Peterson and Cliff Vaneevenhoven, forwards, and John Grogan and Neil McCarty, guards.

Congregation of St. Mary's Church Fetes Rev. John Haen At Surprise Party, Program

Kaukauna — Members of St. Mary's Catholic church congregation surprised the Rev. John Haen, assistant pastor, with a birthday party Sunday evening at the church hall. Two hundred persons were present at a 6:30 covered dish supper followed by a program. This program, called "Highlights of Life" depicted Fr. Haen's life from the stage of mother and child to his days as a veteran priest. In the first scene Patricia Ives was the child and Mrs. Theodore Nyles the mother. Leo Hennes sang "That Little Boy of Mine." The next scene showed a schoolroom, with Mrs. Carl Weigman the teacher and Leo Hennes, Jack Verbeten and Norman Weigman taking the part of girls and John Van de Loo, Tim Ryan and Paul Nagan acting as boys. The third scene showed Fr. Haen, who was once a United States marine, as a sailor, with Ray Jansen, Laverne Rabideau and Paul Nagan singing "Anchors Aweigh."

Fr. Haen's ordination was portrayed in the fourth scene, with Eileen O'Connor and Harold Hoolihan playing "Ave Maria," a violin duet. The first marriage ceremony he conducted was shown in the next scene, with Arthur Godfrey taking the part of the bride; Ben Ives that of the bridegroom; Lester J. Brenzel that of the bridesmaid; Ray Kauth that of the best man; Leo Hennes that of the ring-bearer; Jack Verbeten that of the flower girl and John Van de Loo that of the priest. The bouquet carried by the bridesmaid was presented to Fr. Haen. Ernest Landrean took the part of the assistant pastor as a veteran priest in the last scene. John Van de Loo presented Fr. Haen with a purse as a birthday gift.

John Rink and Miss Grace Brenzel were the winners in a baby picture guessing contest. In an act showing mothers and babies Carl Andersen, Jack Verbeten, Leo Hennes, Lester J. Brenzel and Laverne Rabideau played the babies, with Carl Weigman, Ray Kuehl, Tim Ryan, John Van de Loo and Arthur Godfrey the mothers.

Mrs. John Van de Loo was chairman for the covered dish supper; Mrs. Jack Verbeten and Mrs. Carl Andersen were co-chairmen for the decorations, and Mrs. Arthur Godfrey and Mrs. Elizabeth Ives were in charge of the program. The hall was decorated with snapdragons, chrysanthemums and carnations, with the tables dressed in orchid, yellow and pink.

More than 300 persons were present last night as Knights of Columbus held a party in their Wisconsin avenue clubrooms. Al Hartzheim, grand knight, gave the welcome address, and introduced Lester J. Brenzel, master of ceremonies. Brenzel directed the program, which began with numbers by pupils of the Van Zealand school of music, with Miss Audrey Mitchler in charge. Those who

Now Phil Can Devote His Time To National Progressive Party

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Madison—The LaFollettes are out, but not down. Failure of Governor Phil LaFollette to win reelection means only that his wife soon must go house-hunting and that Phil, free from state house duties, can devote his energies to building his National Progressive party. To many of us the election seemed to head the country back to the two party system and to pronounce the death sentence on third parties. From that conclusion the LaFollettes firmly dissent.

A few days ago Republicans, aided by conservative Democrats, swept the state. Republicans won all state offices and will control both houses of the legislature. But there is no sign of demoralization of the LaFollette forces. The first thing they did—and it shows what expert political operators they are—was to call a statewide rally of LaFollette Progressives. This mass meeting was held Sunday in the assembly chamber of the state house. Some 1,500 county chairmen and LaFollette party workers came from all over the state. Many were up at 4 a. m. and drove to Madison to arrive for the afternoon meeting. It was not a funeral but a party rally, more like you see on the eve of victory than on the day after defeat.

They handled this thing just as Wisconsin university does when it loses a football game. Everybody rallies around and cheers the pep talks for the next game.

The crowd overflowed the senate chamber. Suddenly, from the rear of the chamber, a slight, boyish figure called out that the crowd was too large and would everyone go over to the assembly chamber. It was Phil. "Don't mind the wires on the floor in the chamber," Phil said, referring to the repairs of the electric voting apparatus.

"We guarantee you won't get shocked as badly as you did last Tuesday."

That set the pitch of the meeting—laughing off the defeat as a mere incident in the Progressive movement. No handwringing. No blues. No letdown. No quitting! But pose, confidence, conviction that they were down only for the moment.

Brother Bob LaFollette, the senator, said it was a good thing that if the Republicans had to win, they won everything. Republicans would have no alibis. The LaFollette crowd is certain the Republicans will hang themselves. Privately the story is circulated that a leading Republican industrialist, commenting on the election of Julius Heil—Julius the just-as-Republican governor, said that the best thing Heil could do for himself, now that he was elected, would be to commit suicide at the peak of his career.

They're Convinced They'll Stage 1940 Comeback

Governor Phil LaFollette acted as master of ceremonies. He introduced all of the candidates on the losing ticket for brief speeches. Bob LaFollette unlimbered in a pep talk. Bob urged the county chairmen and workers to hold meetings every two weeks, to gather in their homes, and to keep up interest in everything that happens in Madison and Washington. Phil called his wife to the platform. She stumped the state for him and is known by everyone. Phil just called her up by her family pet name. She said that as soon as she did her house hunting and caught up on mending the children's clothes—and the two tots were sitting on one of the steps leading up to the platform—she would be back with them helping the women organize bazaars and other money-raising activities. That's the kind of a family party it was... you don't see anything like outside of Wisconsin.

No let down on morale, that's the secret of the LaFollettes and the Progressive workers left Madison today, less than a week after election, hardly remembering their defeat and convinced that two years from now they will be back in power.

Two Factors Cited To Explain Defeat

Explanation of the defeat, which incidentally was not unexpected in Wisconsin although it was a surprise elsewhere. First, LaFollette was elected governor the last two times by a minority vote. His total was less than the combined total of the democrats and Republicans. This year the two old parties combined and beat him. Second, by checking the figures in several counties, it appears that the LaFollette vote stayed home. Combined Republican and Democratic totals in many counties are almost what they were two years ago. LaFollette's was way down.

Low farm prices, and a feeling that the New Deal wasn't getting anywhere, produced a spirit of disillusionment. Voters took a "what's-the-use attitude" and let the state slide into the lap of the conservatives.

Now Phil LaFollette intends to turn in earnest toward building his National Progressive party.

THE DERELICT CIO

The seaman fears a derelict. He knows what havoc may be wrought by an old scow set loose upon the tides or a water-logged ship moving along eternally but a foot or so beneath the surface.

Today in many spots in this country the CIO represents all the advantages and disadvantages of a derelict. It serves little purpose that could not be better served elsewhere. But when it is shot from the crest of a forty foot sea into the emptiness below and with all the tremendous power of a raging blast behind it it may ruin the best and most modern of steel hulls.

In its recent report to its membership the CIO slurred over finances. On one short page, and with a few general items, it told its story of the spending of 3 1/2 million dollars in the last three years which is that it spent that amount of money and doesn't care to go into any more details.

The CIO is disintegrating. The loss of a quarter of a million garment workers last week it tried to turn off with a pout and a turned up nose. But its disintegration will be complete after the 1940 election for only one thing has held it together and that is its ability to open every official door at Washington and the influence that ability carries with it.

A GAUDY CHARACTER PASSES ON

Bath House John Coughlin, alderman from Chicago's lusty first ward for 46 un-interrupted years, has gone to join the shades of other American eccentric immortals.

For the Bath was a character, as strange and quixotic in his own peculiar field as Buffalo Bill was of the frontiers-man.

The Bath and the Hink, the latter in real life Michael J. Kenna, ruled the first ward with hands of iron albeit covered over with carded wool. They came together as naturally as elements that are complimentary to one another live peacefully side by side. For the Hink ran a great saloon pompously called the Working-man's Exchange where men filled themselves with booze and then repaired to the establishment of the Bath where the alcohol was sweated out of them before the jim-jams set in.

It was certainly a strange situation that never could have taken place in anything but an American city for the first ward was the center of sin and the home of everything from a pickpocket up and probably the Bath and the Hink kept peace and order as well as it was possible for anyone to do.

The Bath related that his parents were well-to-do until the Chicago fire cleaned them out and then with his bubbling good humor he toasted the Chicago fire as a character-builder. "Were it not for that fire," he used to say, "I might have been just another rich man's son and even been educated at Yale."

But the Bath and the Hink took care of their own. The Hink's emporium had a ground floor space as great as some department stores. The bar ran the length of the building. A man could almost take a bath in the glass of beer that was served, such was its generosity. When time to close came the Hink never threw anyone out. He just herded them in the back of his saloon which was separated by an iron grill and locked them in, furnishing as clean straw as any cow stable ever boasted. Meanwhile the Bath was doing his daily turn by forming the First Ward Club which furnished membership cards to everyone who registered and voted in the ward even if their residence was only a flophouse but brought to these members a halo of some sort comparable to the boasted glory of Roman citizenship 2,000 years ago. For the country, and Chicago in particular, had taken the Bath and the Hink with good nature since they seemed to be fixtures and willingly provided meals or drinks or shoes or overcoats to those who could show the nobility of their citizenship by exhibiting a First Ward Club card.

The Bath was true to his friends. Few men of his kind are not. Mayor Carter H. Harrison in his autobiography wrote of him:

"Holler-than-thou human nature is too prone to dismiss as beneath contempt a type of man who, justly studied, is not to be blamed altogether for his derelictions. . . . Were I an analyst of human nature, a student of the effects of ancestry, childhood teaching, surroundings, on the individual, I would like to figure out for my own satisfaction the probable development that would have taken place in John J. Coughlin, notorious alderman of the world's most notorious ward, had fate planted the roots of his upbringing in the friendlier soil. . . . I verily believe he would have traveled far and high as a leader of men."

And the Bath shone like a great star for in a ward that was ragged he dressed like a swell. His ties, shirts and vests fairly screamed. And then like Nero without Nero's cruelty he wrote verses and sang songs and was particularly pleased when the color of his clothes was adopted elsewhere even as the Duke of Windsor is pleased by similar imitation.

And so this curious American character with the big paunch across which was carried a heavy gold chain makes way for a successor. But the sort who succeeds him belongs to the next generation.

THE SIAMESE-TWIN NATIONS

The code of international law contains but few principles.

There is nothing very complex about them, consisting as they do of rules concerning human conduct that have been written as undeniable, and so written since men ceased living in caves.

Thus when Mexico takes 400 million dollars worth of property belonging to people who came by the property lawfully it is embracing anarchy because it is violating the code of the ages, the true and simple rule that permits a government to take any property of its people but only upon making prompt and reasonable settlement therefor.

And when Germany lays a fine of 400 million dollars upon the 400,000 Jews within its borders it is clasp Mexico by the hand since it is violating just as plain a rule of international law, the one that says that all guilt is personal and punishment can only follow wrongdoing.

Civilization could never have emerged from the dark shadows of barbarity without these rules. In the past the nations that have divested themselves of these attributes of civilization have ultimately covered their people with woe and wretchedness.

To levy tribute upon Denmark because some inconspicuous Dane reasoned badly would be a crime of crimes. To punish those of a race or religion or color because some one else of that race or religion or color committed an offense is to throw the human intellect into a pit and join the wolves and jackals.

During the instigated mob outrages against a helpless people aimed at taunting them into other excesses several correspondents reported that numerous Germans protested aloud against the misconduct of their own government and were hastened away or clubbed into silence by the miscreants parading as patriots. But the protest in a tyranny can go no farther. It is choked off by hoodlums the moment the press is curtailed by censorship. Thus the decent voice of Germany is stifled by the raucous jibes of the worst elements to be found within the land. And thus at the same time is produced another tap in the constant flow of evidence that guilt of wrongdoing is always personal and that to punish those who are guiltless, who never conceived the crime, knew nothing about it, and never even heard of its perpetrator is an act of brutal wrong compared to which no wrong could be clearer perhaps than the strangling of a cooing child in a cradle.

Today the rest of the world looks at both Mexico and Germany, and because of the crimes of their governments, with a feeling of repulsion. But that is not all. Each such nation is building up in the world a force that is hostile and that is bound to bring upon the millions within their borders eventual misery and suffering.

And so may it properly be said that tyrants make everyone suffer, first those upon whom they vent their poisonous spleen and next upon their own people who must pay the eventual price of their villainy.

GOING DOWN ANOTHER STEP

Our Maritime Commission which directs the course and fixes the terms of travel of the great vessels now owned by the government has promulgated a rule that all federal job holders and the members of their families may use these boats for all cruises at half price. Thus a weary payroller may take a $500 Caribbean cruise for $250.

The only astonishing thing about this step is that anyone should make an outcry against it. It is perfectly natural and to be expected.

The billion dollars a year that America is now paying to the 300,000 additional payrollers that Mr. Roosevelt promised not to hire is only the beginning of their real cost to the country.

If we continued about ten years more going in the direction in which we have been going we would be able to throw all discretion to the winds and dress our job holders in purple, the color of the royalty immune and preferred for centuries.

Abe Ellis, overlord concessionaire of hat check rooms around New York town, claims that one man in ten forgets to claim his hat after a soiree in a New York hot spot. Unclaimed hats are held by him for a year.

A Royal Decree-Law published in the Italian Official Gazette requires that all new power plants be built so they can use gas, solid fuel, or electric power.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—Time, Woman and Song: There used to be a song titled "How Old Is Ann?" but I never did hear the answer. Not that I cared, really. It was just the idea that Ann, who ever she was, should be so mysterious about it.

Women are inclined to be evasive about their ages. I am not uncovering any international secret when I say that lots of times, they actually lie about it. This makes me very unhappy. I do not see why a woman who is 45 cannot say she is 45 and be done with it.

Face-lifting, hair-tinting and wrinkle-removing make it difficult for men to guess even close. Things have come to such a pass that you can't tell the mothers from the daughters.

Quite by accident I found a way to determine a woman's age; that is, I can tell, if all goes well, whether she is over 40. I pass it along as just another of those contributions to science for which History will be eternally in my debt.

To show you how the Harrison-Find-Out-Their-Ages System operates, I give an example. The other night, doing my Good Deed for that 24-hour period, I cavaliereed a female acquaintance to the Gay Nineties, a cafe for gayety and gourmands.

I had no proper idea of the lady's age. To hear her tell it, she was a contemporary of Shirley Temple. I wouldn't even have been astonished if she had whispered that she was one of the Dionne quintuplets.

To my untutored eye she looked to be crowding 30, and my eye always gives a lady about a ten-year advantage. It's the Beau Brummel in me. I regard it as no sin for a woman to be crowding 30, or 40, or 70. Age has its merits, even more renowned than Youth's.

We sat down. The lady ordered a Sidecar. For the benefit of those readers unfamiliar with the finer details of barroom potions let me interpolate that a Sidecar is a cocktail of high alcoholic content which, consumed in any quantity, will cause befuddlement—a condition to be deplored and condemned.

The entertainers appeared, and please pay close attention to this, on account of the entertainers are the crux of the Harrison-Find-Out-Their-Ages System. The feature of the entertainment that distinguishes this cafe from the frivolous froth of other After Dark places is that it is antique. It does not stoop to modern music. It sticks to the popular tunes of the generation When-You-and-I-Were-Young-Maggie. The entertainers themselves are, with all due respect, museum pieces.

Joseph E. Howard appeared. He is 74, but sensitive about it. He has had seven wives, which is neither here nor there, and he has written many hit songs—"I Wonder Who's Kiss-Ing Her Now?", "Goodbye, My Lady-Love," and "Honey-moon," to name only three.

In a voice surprisingly good, he sang the old songs. Under my breath I sang the words with him. That is the secret of the place. It throws you back to the baby days.

The lady ordered another Sidecar.

"Spoke" Harrison (no kin of mine, but a good Egg, too, if you get what I mean), who used to be in vaudeville, came out and began singing. He sang "I Took My Harp to a Party, but Nobody Asked Me to Play."

Next came Billy Ward, another veteran, and he began singing a long list of old timers—"Jade," "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," "I Like You and You Like Me," "Rings on Her Fingers," "He's My Pal," and "Come Josephine In My Flying Machine."

Most of us sang along with him, remembering the words. The lady with me was humming by now.

The singer swung into "Meet Me at St. Louis, Ooie, Meet Me at the Fair." The lady joined in, singing the chorus word for word; and I knew at once she wasn't a day under 40. The song is 34 years old.

That, in essence, is the famous Harrison Find-Out-Their-Ages System. The lady, perhaps realizing how neatly she had been trapped, said: "My father used to sing that song."

I just looked at her and smiled slyly. Her father's favorite tune, to my way of thinking, was "Tenting on the Old Camp Grounds."

A Bystander In Washington

Washington—Have you ever seen people bid on $200,000,000 worth of battleships?

The conclusion of this first stage of the drama by which the United States steps out to become the master of her share of the waves is calm, precise, dignified.

Back of it lies an agony of preparations, thousands of blue prints drafted and re-drafted, discussions in ship yards, financial houses, in the White House, in technical quarters in the navy, and in committees of the house and senate.

When all this is finished, months later a group of the nation's foremost seadogs cluster around the desk of Secretary Swanson of the navy. His office is in one of the rattiest buildings in Washington, a concrete labyrinth slung together during the World war to house a swelling navy. When street buses pass, it quivers like a chicken coop.

However, an acceptable office has been set up for the secretary on the second floor, roomy but far plainer than the quarters of door-men in the newest governmental castles along Constitution and Pennsylvania avenues.

At The Stroke Of Twelve

The bids will be opened at "high noon," says the announcement. An hour before the door to the secretary's office is opened, the hallway outside is jammed with men. Some are hard-bitten shipyard operators. Many are small operators hopeful of an earful that will give them an inkling of where they can sell an order of insulation or a few rugs for the officers' quarters on the ships.

As the main door opens the crowd rushes forward. A marine stops them. He lets in a few at a time to seek places in orderly fashion about the room. Nearly a hundred men, a woman or two as well, sardine into the room. There is a momentary pause, a shuffling of papers as late arriving officials receive copies of this and that.

Back at Swanson's desk is a huge brass clock of seagoing design, but it is an old grandfather's clock in the center of the room that starts off the party.

"Ding," it begins, with the first beat of 12 patient strokes to signal that "high noon" has arrived.

The navy is prompt. At the instant of the first "ding" Admiral DuBose, naval chief of construction, is on his feet. The secretary, formerly senator from Virginia, has little part in the final ceremony. The sea fighters take the wheel. They are a trim lot. Seven of ten high rankers in the army have blue eyes. Must be the viking strain. At 60, Admiral DuBose (blue eyes) is white haired, erect as a picket pin.

They Talk In Millions

Briefly he explains the terms of the bidding, then opens the first bid. Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation offers to build one ship for $52,145,000. New York Shipbuilding corporation will do it for $54,794,000. Newport News Shipbuilding comes somewhere between with a bid on slightly different terms.

The navy wants three built in private yards. It will put another together in its own yards. Likely each private yard will get a contract for a ship, after some conferences on prices.

When the private yards are finished with their part of the shipbuilding—which includes building the hull and stuffing it with machinery, the navy must take them over and load them with $200,000,000 more of guns, armor and fighting gear.

When finished, each ship will cost $70,000,000, maybe more. And like our other present battleships, they may never fire a shot at an enemy in battle.

A Verse for Today

by Anne Campbell

BE WITH ME:

Be with me in the spring when crocus buds Push their shy blossoms into balmy air. And the glad birds fly home across the woods And meadows that remembering makes fair.

Be with me in the summer when the roads Are bordered with wild daisies, and the trees Cast pleasant shade, and every garden bodes Long hours of beauty and sweet harmonies.

Be with me in the autumn, when Death rides Across the earth with sudden bitterness. The winds moan, and the lashing of the tides Foretells the winter's cold, the heart's distress.

Be with me in the winter most of all, When snows lie deep upon the hill and glen; When sunsets fade and there is no bird call Across my spirit, ah, be with me then!

WE NEVER GO IN FOR FOREIGN ENTANGLEMENTS, DO WE?

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

SKIN MEDICATIONS

Ointment of Rose Water (Ung. Aquae Rosae) made according to the formula in the U. S. and British Pharmacopoeias should not be confused with various so-called "cold creams", although these may be similar in some respects. Official ointment of rose water contains no paraffin oil, liquid petrolatum, mineral oil, white petrolatum, etc., but only spermaceti (substance from head of sperm whale) and beeswax bleached white and almond oil. The official ointment of rose water is therefore kinder to the skin. It should be made up fresh, in whatever quantity will suffice for a month or less, by the pharmacist, after the formula in his Pharmacopoeia. Or the following is approximately the official formula, if you care to try your hand at making your own:

Pare into fine shavings one ounce of spermaceti and one ounce of white beeswax and melt them together with moderate heat. Then add five ounces expressed oil of almonds. Now dissolve as much borax as you can take up on a dime in 15 ounces of stronger rose water and add this to the other mixture. Then stir rapidly and continuously, or beat with egg beater or with heavy spoon until the mixture becomes uniformly soft and creamy.

This serves every purpose a cream can serve in cleansing, protecting, soothing or beautifying the skin. It relieves irritation, itching, chapping, sunburn. Judiciously applied to old skins it makes them look younger.

Skin Oil

For application to a dry, harsh, irritable, dull or rough skin, or for use on scalp or hair where scalp or hair is too dry sesame oil is excellent, as it does not tend to clog the skin as other oils do. If you can procure pure fresh sesame oil, you can make an excellent Skin Oil as follows:

Heat moderately for three hours in a double boiler four ounces of sesame oil with twenty grains of powdered benzoin. Let it cool, add twenty drops of 90-proof alcohol, stir well, and finally strain thru silk or filter paper.

A few drops of this may be applied to skin or scalp daily or two or three times a day.

Soothing Cream

For relief of more marked or troublesome itching, in the absence of visible lesion, a cream made of 1 ounce of lanolin, 1 ounce of boroglyceride and enough cold cream to make four ounces in all, will be found soothing and convenient, especially if it is kept in a collapsible tube.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Tin Doctor Evil

The school nurse advised that our children drink (a proprietary beverage). Please tell us what vitamins it contains and if it will improve their sleep and give them better nourishment and strength. (Mrs. T. A. W.)

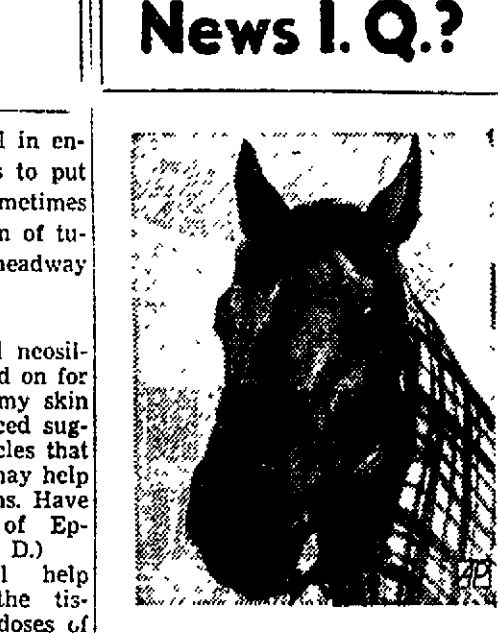

Answer—A glass of milk will give them more vitamins, better nourishment, more strength.

Vaccination

Is smallpox vaccination used for the prevention or treatment of any other disease? Is insulin used for treatment of any disease other than diabetes? (J. E. K.)

Answer—1. No. Perhaps confusion arises from the slovenly use of the term "vaccine" or "bacterial vaccine" for bacterins which are used for prevention of some diseases (typhoid fever, for example, for treatment of others (acne or chronic arthritis, for example). 2. Insulin is not used for treatment of diabetes, but merely to aid in the utilization of carbohydrate in the body—in any condition where this may be desirable; for example, in-

Mrs. Swanson Is Farewell Party Guest

THE monthly meeting of the Alpha Chi Omega alumnae group Monday night was also a farewell party and handkerchief shower for Mrs. Randall Swanson, 531 N. Vine street, at whose home the meeting took place. With her husband, who has been named Milwaukee county agricultural agent, she will move the middle of December to Wauwatosa.

At the business session plans were made for a bake sale to be sponsored jointly with the Alpha Chi Omega Mothers' club on Dec. 3 and for a party to be given for the pledges on Dec. 12. route, how old she was, she answered with a twinkle in her eye. "Twenty-one next March."

Another entertaining interlude came early in the evening when she was presented with a corsage of gardenias. Gardenias, Miss Serrec said, always made her homesick for Texas, where they grow wild. She is a Texan herself, was graduated from Texas Christian college and now makes her home at Ft. Worth.

As a tribute to her mother, whose name is Melinda, Miss Serrec offered the gardenias to the woman in her audience last night who had the same name.

Janette Serrec

Wears Hair Down

It was inevitable that the burning feminine question of the day—should the hair go up or stay down—should be discussed last night, and when Miss Serrec, advocate of variety to make life more interesting, came to the subject with the question "Do we need a new way to do our hair?" her audience felt surely she would approve of the new mode.

They noticed, though, that her dark tresses were still lying in soft curls low on her neck and were probably not greatly surprised when she answered her own question:

"Personally, I don't think we do. Let's leave it the way it is. The new hair style is exciting and on those to whom it is becoming it is lovely. But it makes anyone look older, and some of us have ears—and necks."

She admitted, however, that all women would be putting their hair up eventually; sheep that they are and predicted that women will be degenerating into a race of clinging vines again.

Has Compensations

Such a prospect, however, has its rosy side, too, she went on. "The helpless woman who has to have some great big wonderful man do things for her usually has him," she said.

Warning against the "middle age jell," the period when a woman settles into a routine, becomes prim and often dull, Miss Serrec told her housewife listeners that she hoped they didn't wash the dishes at the same hour every day.

"Walk out on them occasionally," she advised, referring to the waiting dishes. "I defy any woman to dress in her best clothes, the ones in which she is confident she looks well, then to go into a restaurant and order something with unpronounceable names and a little more expensive than she can ordinarily afford and make half an eye—not a whole eye—at the orchestra leader and not feel the better for doing it."

"You can still be a thoroughly good and respectable matron," she continued, "and one who gets her dishes washed eventually too."

Health Important

To enjoy exuberant health helps immeasurably to be a charming person, Miss Serrec contends, and she gave to her audience of school girls, business women and housewives last night several practical suggestions that will make for better health.

Few people drink enough water, she said. Urging her listeners to begin the next day to drink eight glasses a day, she promised they would be surprised at the difference in their feeling. She also advocated more deep breathing and said that as few as four deep breaths taken in the morning would make a world of difference in one's alertness and sense of well-being during the day.

Diet, as those who heard her last year know, is one of Miss Serrec's pet subjects. Explaining that one group of foods is digested by being subjected to a dominantly alkaline process and another group by being subjected to a dominantly acid process, she pointed out that it was difficult for the stomach to do both at the same time.

Diet Suggestions

For that reason the combination of proteins and carbohydrates, or in the terms of the traditional American meal, meat and potatoes, is a bad one, as is also the time-honored breakfast combination, orange juice and toast. Miss Serrec advocates eating one group of foods one day and the other group the next day.

A style review showing house coats from Campbell's, a "round-the-clock" wardrobe from Pettibone's and furs from Grist's followed Miss Serrec's lecture.

Tonight Miss Serrec will discuss nervousness, timidity, self-consciousness and etiquette. A 15-minute musical program will precede her lecture, and there will be another style review and awarding of gifts.

Those who received gifts last night were Ruthe Lausman, 403 N. Division street, I. E. S. floor lamp; Wisconsin Michigan Power company; Dorothy Rusch, 645 Oak street, Neenah, hosiery, Pettibone-Peabody company; Minnie Hersant, Riverview Sanatorium, Kaukauna, decorative cake, Elm Tree bakery; Mrs. Arnold Bast, 1514 Gunn street, coffee, S. C. Shannon company; Betty Stimp, 418 N. Lawe street, hosiery, Pettibone-Peabody company; Mrs. Robert Larsen, 125 W. College avenue, Jo Andre cosmetic kit, Voigt's Drug store; Mrs. C. L. Braun, 207 S. Mrs. E. V. Werner, president of the Eighth district of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs, will introduce Miss Serrec tonight. Mrs. H. W. Miller, state president of the American Legion auxiliary, was hostess last night.

Board Will Name Doctor, Highway Chief Wednesday

Supervisors Hear Reports As November Session Opens Today

Adoption of committee reports and the referring of matters of more or less routine matter to respective committees for study took up most of the time at the opening session of the Outagamie county board this morning.

The board adopted a resolution setting 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon as the time for the election of county officials.

The officials to be elected are as follows: county highway commissioner, county highway committee, one trustee each for the county asylum, Riverview sanatorium, and Outagamie County Rural Normal school at Kaukauna, county physician, and pension director.

It appeared that deer season, which starts Saturday morning, may cause adjournment of the sessions to a later date. I. A. Gruwaldt, of Black Creek, said at the outset of the meeting that "at least half of the members of the board will be going hunting," suggested that adjournment be called tomorrow afternoon until Nov. 28, and asked members to "think this over and decide tomorrow."

Among the recommendations presented before the supervisors this morning was one from the special committee on a county home. The committee said that after studying costs involved, as demonstrated in other counties, it did not believe it advisable to construct an institution of this type in Outagamie county, one of two in the state without a county home.

Supervisor A. W. Zerbelt of Appleton said that despite social security and old age pensions, aged people who were single preferred to live in county homes and that this meant an increased expenditure. If a person lives in a county home, he or she is ineligible for pension. Other members of the committee besides Zerbelt are John Diederich, Vandenbroek, Martin Williams, Combined Locks; Arthur Genske, Black Creek; and Henry Krueztberg, Ellington.

Speaks on Red Cross
The Rev. G. H. Blum of the Emmanuel Evangelical church, who with George F. Werner heads the current Red Cross drive, appeared before the board this morning and asked the supervisors to assist in widening the scope of the campaign to include more rural communities. He asked that supervisors appoint at least three persons from each township to conduct the drive in those localities and that the names of these persons be given to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The workers will then be sent supplies for the campaign.

Presented to the board this morning and sent to the highway committee was a request from the city of Kaukauna for funds with which to pave streets in that city. Stating that Kaukauna "hasn't been getting its share of highway money," Mayor Lewis F. Nelson requested that the board vote $7,000 for the paving of Desnoyer street in Kaukauna from Highway 55 to old Highway 41 and $4,000 for the paving of Island street from the Wisconsin avenue bridge to County Trunk Z.

Highway Allotments
Hantschel read a letter from the state highway commission announcing highway allotments. These allotments include $52,037.94 for county trunk improvements and $135,992.49 for state trunk work. The breakdown on the last figure consists of $100,000 for retreating of county bonds, a previous allotment of $33,000 for use on new Highway 41, and a reserve of $992.49.

Men appearing before the board this morning to make personal reports of their year's work included Edward Lutz, county service officer; George F. Fiedler, county relief director; and Raymond P. Dohr, district attorney.

Other reports, such as those from the detention camp trustees, County Judge Fred V. Heinemann, Dr. Stephan Konz, county physician, and the Riverview sanatorium were placed on file.

Several communications from other county boards urging the Outagamie county supervisors to support various legislation and proposals were read this morning and placed in the hands of committees.

Support Asked
One from Douglas county asked that the board pass a resolution opposing wage cuts for railroad employees. Another, signed by boards from four counties in the state, proposed that the state reimburse counties up to 50 per cent for dependent children not coming under the social security law.

The Wood and Portage county boards urged that support be given the proposed PWA hydro-electric project for the state which provides for the construction of dams for flood control and increased power.

A letter from Dr. H. O. Schneider, Wausau, president of the Wisconsin Conservation congress, asked the board to promote county parks, conservation education, and other projects in this field. A letter from S. H. Eigel, Milwaukee, representing the Wisconsin Construction Industries Advisory council, sought to enlist support from the board in a program to "provide something better than WPA."

MARRIAGE LICENSES
The following have made application for marriage licenses at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk: Harvey J. Watkins, Hamilton Field, San Rafael, Calif., and Elizabeth M. Shannon, 705 E. College avenue, Appleton; Elmer Vander Velden, Kimberly, and Bonnie Morris, 1220 N. State street, Appleton.

MILK POOL MEETING
Directors of the Outagamie county unit of the Wisconsin Milk Pool will meet at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Black Creek village hall. Usual business will be considered.

State Officials Will See Safety Film Here

Three officials of the state highway commission will be present when the bicycle safety film, "Handle Bar Hazards," has its preview at 8:15 Thursday night in Wilson Junior High school auditorium.

Police Chief George T. Prim said today that Thomas F. Davlin, chairman of the commission, William A. O'Brien, member, and West A. Burdick, state safety director, have notified him they will come to Appleton Thursday night to see the color film, E. L. Swanson made the movie, using young Appleton bicyclists as his cast. The film runs about 35 minutes.

Legion Sees New Membership Total

Expects Enrollments Will Go Over the Million Mark

Indianapolis—(AP)—American Legion national headquarters got wire reports here today from throughout the United States of advance in enrollments toward what leaders predicted would be a record membership of more than 1,000,000 world war veterans for next year.

The annual telegraphic roll call was held during a conference of commanders and adjutants of the legion's 58 departments in this country and dependencies. The three-day session will end tomorrow. A two-day executive committee meeting will follow.

Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle, Wash., national commander, said advance memberships should total about 500,000, or 50,000 ahead of the same time last year, and the eventual enrollment should top 1,000,000. He expressed belief five state organizations would report they had reached their quotas.

Chadwick pointed out the legion had 10,498 posts, the most it has had since its formation in Paris after the armistice.

The roll call climaxed a forenoon session in which officers talked about membership problems. National Vice-Commander Henry C. Oakley was the main speaker. In the afternoon commanders and adjutants met separately to discuss work of their offices.

John Thomas Taylor, director of the national legislative committee, and Frank E. Lowe, Maine department commander, called yesterday for "adequate national defense."

Waupun Man Is Head of Valley Photographers

P. G. Elster, Waupun, was elected president of the Fox River Valley Photographers association at a meeting held in Appleton last week. He succeeds A. J. Neumeyer of Brillion.

Other officers elected were Chris Hansen, Waupaca, vice president; and Miss Flora Wilkins, Waupun, secretary.

It Is Said

That Sheriff Coppers, proprietor of the Kimberly bowling alleys, was so proficient at teaching his recent bride how to mow down the pins that he taught himself right into a defeat.

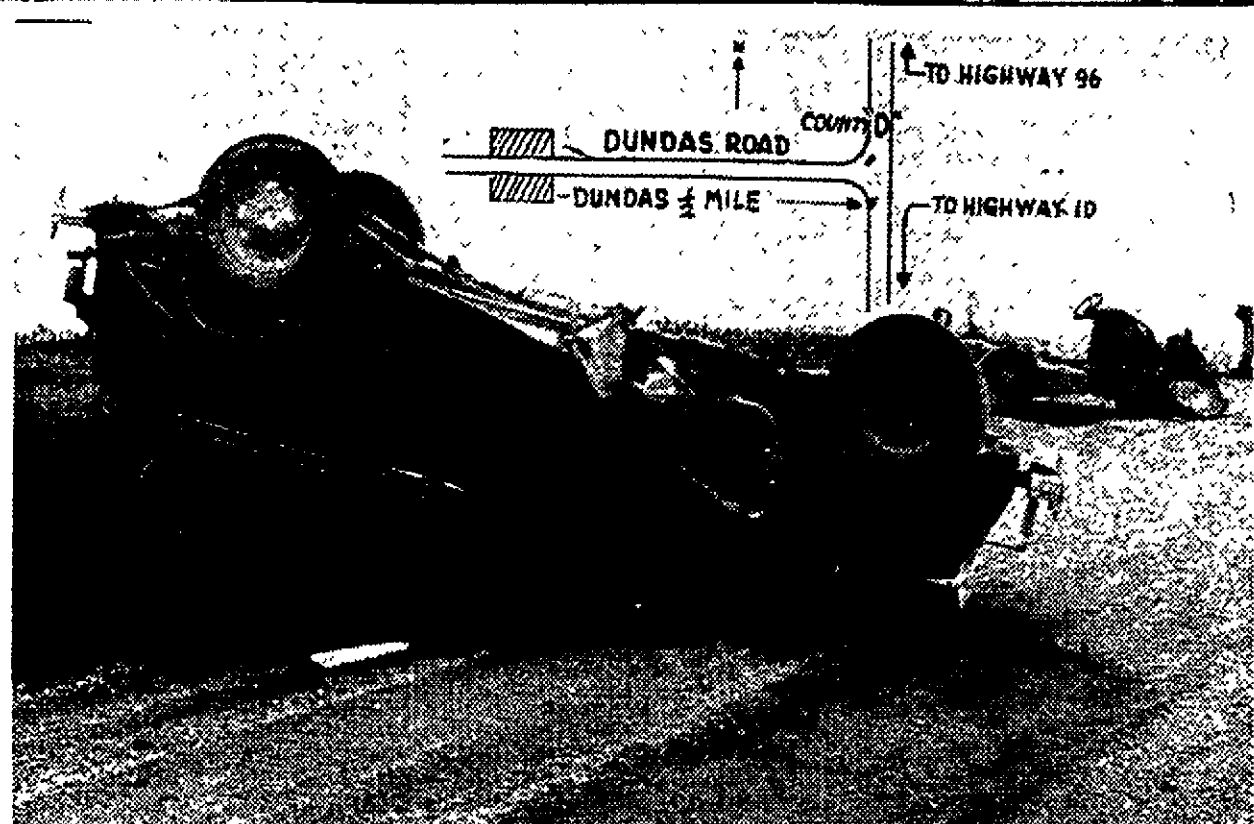

Himself a bang-up bowler, he was giving his wife, Gladys, instructions the other day. The two were holding a friendly match. Over the 4-game route, she chalked up marks of 178, 178, 162, and 183, scores that Sheriff couldn't equal that day. It is rumored that Gladys is now giving the instruction.

That if someone doesn't call for those manure spreaders that were given to the Appleton street department by Halloween pranksters, they will be junked or sold or something to get rid of them. Gene Harris, assistant street commissioner, says they are in the way and will have to be moved.

That the old men who used to play cards in the basement of the public library during the winter months, will have to find a new place to kibitz. The room that was used for playing cards has been transformed into an attractive library room for the children and is being used for story hour and to store children's books.

That Louis Luebke's electrical shop in city hall basement this week looks more like Santa Claus' work shop than an electrical shop. The place is filled with decorations that will be installed on College avenue for the Christmas season.

That one of those drivers who are always in a hurry at intersections with stop lights nearly came to grief yesterday when he attempted to drive around a car waiting for the light to turn green at the intersection of Superior street and College avenue. The first car failed to move the second the light turned green when Mr. Tim In A Hurry averted his machine into the left lane and nearly crashed head-on into another car amid the noisy blowing of horns and screeching of brakes.

CAR IN WHICH DUNDAS WOMAN LOST LIFE SUNDAY MORNING

Here is the overturned car in which Mrs. James Coonen, Dundas, was fatally injured Sunday morning in a crash with a car driven by John Willems, Hollandtown, at the intersection of the Dundas road and County Trunk D. Her husband suffered a fractured skull and still is in a critical condition at a Green Bay hospital. The machine driven by Willems can be seen in the background at the right, a heap of junk. The Coonen car was driven by a son, Jerome, who suffered a lacerated scalp. Two other members of the Coonen family, Grace, 20, and Catherine, had minor cuts and bruises. Willems was arrested by Sheriff Gerhard Jensen for driving a car without a license.

tens of thousands into the British Empire and into North and South America.

Every major nation will be asked to take as many German Jews as possible in an effort to move most of the Jews out of Germany.

Washington—(AP)—A sudden order calling the American envoy to Berlin home for "report and consultation" gave the world today a clear hint that the United States government disapproves of Germany's treatment of Jews.

Officials said the instructions for Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson to come to Washington were in no sense an interruption of diplomatic relations. They added, however, that the step was one taken only in important cases.

Wilson, who has been in Berlin less than a year, will report to President Roosevelt not only on the Jewish situation but also on all problems affecting American relations with the Hitler regime.

Assail Reich Campaign
Shortly after the announcement of Wilson's return was made last night, Secretary Ickes, Herbert Hoover, Alfred M. Landon and religious leaders spoke on a nationwide radio symposium, protesting against the anti-Semitic measures in the reich.

"No nation can live on itself alone," said Ickes. "The time comes when neither man nor nation can live without the decent respect of their fellow men."

The other speakers echoed Ickes' sentiments, former President Hoover asserting that the situation was bringing to Germany "moral isolation from the entire world."

Officials in Washington did not disclose how long Ambassador Wilson would remain here. He will not reach the United States before Secretary Hull goes to Lima, Peru, for the Pan-American meeting.

Relations between the United States and Germany in general have not been of the best the last year, although Ambassador Wilson, a career officer of many years experience, was sent to Berlin with the intention of bettering them.

CANCELS VISIT

Berlin—(AP)—United States Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson said today he had cancelled a planned visit to England and would leave tomorrow for the United States as a result of an urgent summons from Washington.

He did not disclose the purpose of the summons, but informed circles took it for granted he was called to go over the entire German situation with special emphasis on the anti-Jewish wave of the past week. His summons home came in the building. Let's preserve our unions intact."

Brown's Appeal

Brown moved that the convention table the report at least until this afternoon so there would be "an ample opportunity for debate."

"We must leave the door open for further peace conferences," said the newspaper columnist, getting a round of applause not quite as long as that given Cannon.

The peace committee's report made no specific recommendations toward a peace plan. It said:

"The CIO states with finality that there can be no compromise with its fundamental purpose and aim of reorganizing workers into powerful industrial unions, nor with its obligation to fully protect the rights and interests of all its members and affiliated organizations."

Status of Union, Company Trouble Remains the Same

Schedule Meeting of Principals With County Board Today

The status of the controversy between the Appleton Building Trades council and the Allied Construction company of Eau Claire over men employed on an overhead bridge job about a mile north of the city remained the same today.

Representatives of the parties involved met with the executive committee of the county board Monday afternoon but did not reach an agreement. The problem was referred to the county board and was scheduled for an airing at the courthouse this afternoon.

Sheriff John Lappen said this morning that Charles Debenack, president of the Building Trades council, had assured him there would be no trouble started at the job.

Thirty-five special deputies were enlisted yesterday morning to protect men working on the project but the union crowd present made no move to molest working men.

The company is paying union wages but the Building Trades council is protesting at the hiring of non-union and out-of-town workers. The deputies were kept near the job most of yesterday.

Four Cars Damaged in Two Accidents in City

Four cars were damaged in two collisions in the city last night and this morning, but none of the occupants was injured.

Cars driven by Herman Fenske, 23, 1614 N. Superior street, and William Fischer, 38, 314 S. Outagamie street, came together at the corner of Packard and N. Bennett streets at 6:45 last night.

Jerome Pluger, 22, 625 Roosevelt street, Neenah, was the driver of one car and Lon Clifford, 21, Combined Locks of the other involved in a collision at S. Douglas and Eighth streets at 7:15 this morning.

House-to-house deliveries of surplus commodities distributed by the Outagamie county public welfare department started yesterday and will continue throughout the county for three or four days more.

Ice Cream Indictment

The ice cream industry indicted charged that in addition to restraining sale and transportation of counter freezers the defendants gathered information through the international legislative service bureau regarding proposed legislation affecting the ice cream industry.

It alleged the International aided state and local groups in the industry to defeat certain legislation, introduced into the legislatures of more than 20 states proposed "arbitrary, unwarranted and burdensome legislation ostensibly designed for the protection of the public health but in fact designed and intended to create and impose conditions which would make it impossible to operate counter freezers."

It charged the defendants induced state and municipal officials to hinder installation and operation of counter freezers, sold ice cream at prices lower than prevailing on condition that purchasers refrain from using counter freezers.

Commissioner of Insurance Talks At Lions Meeting Urges That Citizens Use Services of State Department

H. J. Mortensen, Wisconsin insurance commissioner, urged that citizens of the state "take advantage of the services of their state insurance department" in a talk before the Appleton Lions club yesterday noon in the Conway hotel.

Pointing out that "there is no one man, woman, or child, who is not in some way affected by insurance," Mortensen said that the department aimed to effect the "proper regulation of insurance in all its phases."

The gradually expanding duties of the department can best be shown by a comparison of the number of insurance companies operating in the state in 1870 with the present lineup, Mortensen said. In 1870, there were eight Wisconsin companies and 75 foreign (out of state) companies doing business in the state. Today there are 285 Wisconsin firms and 547 outside companies.

"The personnel of the insurance department is smaller than it was some years ago and its budget has been considerably reduced," he said.

One of the most important of the department's duties, the commissioner said, is examining the financial status of the companies doing business in the state. These examinations are made from

Hollywood—I've just been studying a list of the great money-making pictures of all time. "The Singing Fool" with Al Jolson in the star role, tops the list and the next nine, in the order of their box-office gross, are: "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," "Ben Hur," "The Big Parade," "Birth of a Nation," "Cavalcade," "The Covered Wagon," "The Jazz Singer," "Sunny Side Up" and "Broadway Melody."

How Hollywood's producers can I think if I were a movie mogul I would put a copy of that list on my office wall—and order my writing staff to forget sex long enough to turn out some good old-fashioned thrillers. And then I'd sit back and worry. About my income tax!

Odd-formation: The bar in Director "Woody" Van Dyke's playroom is an aquarium containing 200 different kinds of tropical fish. Greta Garbo has never made a picture in Hollywood—she's worked only for M-G-M, which is in Culver City. Ronald Reagan is "Dutch" to his best friends. The flames you see on the screen are the real McCoy—there's no way of faking fire. The average weight of Filmmville's chorines is 110 pounds.

Gary Cooper's pet hobby is building miniature steam engines.

con a factual record like that and still argue that every picture must be themed on an impassioned love affair has me stymied. Of the seventy-eight pictures which, until that list was compiled about a year ago, had taken in more than $1,000,000 each, only eight could be dubbed sexy by any stretch of the imagination, and those eight rate near the bottom of the list. Most of the others are comedies, stories of mother love and action thrillers. The only "sex star" whose films have been in the top-money brackets is Mae West—and she got there by kidding Cupid unmercifully.

I think if I were a movie mogul I would put a copy of that list on my office wall—and order my writing staff to forget sex long enough to turn out some good old-fashioned thrillers. And then I'd sit back and worry. About my income tax!

The manager of our neighborhood movie, tells me American-born Japanese are the most consistent theatre-goers and the hottest fans. Boris Karloff never played "Frankenstein"—he was the monster created by Colin Clive, who played the title role. The buttonhooks needed for props in "Union Pacific" had to be made to order—stores don't stock them any more.

Peter Lorre carries a horse-chestnut in the pocket to ward off rheumatism. Gaggling aside, of the 66 Cecil B. De Mille productions to date, only 11 have contained bathtub scenes. The extras you see talking in the background never really talk—they just go through the motions. Constance Bennett's custom built Rolls-Royce is the most expensive car in Hollywood.

The M-G-M publicity brigade have sent out a dozen different explanations for William Powell's sudden decision to rent his palatial home and live in a Beverly Hills hotel, but not one of them cited the true reason. I had that, today, from Bill himself. Like all actors he is superstitious and since he moved into that house, he has had nothing but trouble. Jean Harlow died, his own health broke, he underwent two serious operations. He's just getting out from under.

Anita Louise was posing for fashion pictures, the other day, in ultra-expensive fur coats and wraps which had been delivered to the studio by two guards. And while the camera clicked, the strong-arm duo stood on the sidelines and stared. "You know," Anita said with mock seriousness to one of them, "I expect you to leave me one of these coats. It's always customary to give a star model one garment as a souvenir. Only last week, I posed for doughnuts and the bakery gave me a half-a-dozen." "Lady," said the guard, tersely, "if these fur coats had holes in 'em, we'd give you a couple, too!"

On Ventura Boulevard, only a short hour's drive from Filmtown, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Brown operate a hamburger stand. The huge live oaks that dot the rolling hills thereabouts make the district one of Hollywood's favorite location spots and it's a rare week when at least one company is not shooting there. Usually the troupe has lunch at the hamburger stand, and, as a consequence, Mr. and Mrs. Brown have a speaking acquaintance with most of our top-flight stars. "Of them all, who's your screen favorite?" I asked them the other day when I stopped there en route to a preview in Santa Barbara. Mr. Brown paused and thought hard. "Harold Lloyd," he said. "At least, he's the last one I

Seek Cooperation In Enforcing Tax Law on Oleo Sales

State Official Says Action Vital to Dairy Industry

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Investigation in three
Fox river valley cities, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and Green Bay, shows that merchants are cooperating; satisfactorily with the state department of agriculture and markets in the enforcement of the law on the sale of butter substitutes, the department said today.

R. M. Orchard, assistant attorney general and counsel for the department, said that "it is of the utmost importance to the dairy industry that this kind of cooperation be obtained."

"Dairying is Wisconsin's biggest industry. The butter substitutes law was enacted by the legislature to aid dairy producers in their marketing problems. The merchants interviewed have the best interests of the Wisconsin farmers at heart," he said.

15-Cent Tax

The law, aimed at oleo-margarine, provides for a tax of 15 cents a pound on oleo and similar substances sold in competition with butter.

The department also announced today that it has issued an amendment to its regulation in an effort to "curb the most serious hog cholera situation that has confounded Wisconsin hog handlers in more than a decade."

In the future all hogs sold through sale barns must be immunized before sale, according to V. S. Larson state veterinarian. "This regulation will protect buyers of feeder hogs from purchasing animals that have been exposed and may later develop the disease," he said.

Since August hog cholera has been increasing in the state and in the whole country, the department observed.

Cities Do Not Charge To Remove Street Snow

Questionnaires sent to 16 Wisconsin cities of the approximate size of Appleton to ascertain if any of them assess special charges for removing snow from city streets all have been returned with negative answers, according to Mayor John Goodland, Jr.

At a recent budget session of the common council, it was proposed to charge a nominal sum against business districts annually to defray part of the cost of snow removal.
The negative answers received indicate that no other cities make such a charge.

Appleton now assesses property for removing snow from sidewalks which have not been cleared by 9 o'clock in the morning following a snow storm.

5,000 Persons Greet Wisconsin Gridders

Go Through Workout at Camp Randall After
Detaining*WEISS IS PRAISED*Fort Atkinson Back Is Named Captain for Saturday's Game

MADISON — More than 5,000 students and townspeople tendered the greatest ovation ever accorded a Wisconsin football team yesterday afternoon when Coach Harry Stuhldreher and his fiery Badgers arrived home from their triumphant invasion of the West coast.

Stuhldreher spoke briefly to the cheering throng, saying, "It was a grand trip and the boys turned in a splendid performance, winning the untold praise of our alumni on the West coast. . . But if you'll excuse us, we have a job to perform."

Weiss Named Captain
So saying, the Badger coach who in his third year at Wisconsin has brought his team within striking distance of the Big Ten championship, led his boys to Camp Randall field where preparations were begun for the conference championship battle at Madison Saturday.

Howie (The Howitzer) Weiss, Fort Atkinson's contribution to Big Ten football and the outstanding fullback ever to smash an opponent's line in Wisconsin's Cardinal, was Monday named acting captain for the Minnesota game.

Weiss led the Badgers in the Marquette and Indiana tilts, both of which were won by Wisconsin. He is top-ranked scorer in the Big Ten, has an average of better than four yards a try all season, and a bulwark on defense where his smashing tackles have earned him the unqualified praise of coaches and writers from coast to coast.

Game A Sellout
Termed by Stuhldreher, "The best all-around back in the conference" at the start of this season, he has more than proved his coach's word—he's All-American in every department of play.

Interest runs high in the Cards' final game. Every one of the 37,000 seats at Camp Randall's concrete oval has been sold. By defeating the Gophers, the Badgers can gain no worse than a share of the Big Ten crown and an undisputed title should Michigan tie or whip Ohio State.

Hovland in Hospital
The squad came through the U. C. L. A. battle in excellent shape and will be at full strength for Minnesota, Lynn Hovland, squat Blomere senior and regular left guard, was the only candidate missing in yesterday afternoon's brisk session. Hovland suffered a recurrence of a chest cold and was confined to the university clinic for the night. He is expected to report for practice on Tuesday.

Gene Brodhagen, Bonduel, senior right tackle, sustained a wrenched knee, but he, too, is expected to be ready. Tony Gradinski, left half-back; Al Lorenz, end, and Bill Garrett, tackle, received slight bumps and bruises and were excused a half hour early.

Badgers Are Spirited
Calisthenics, work on the buckboard, passing and defensive dummy drill against Minnesota's offense as portrayed by the freshmen, occupied the squad's attention. The boys had a lot of "cat-ter" and indications are that the team will be "up" both mentally and physically for their conference championship bid.

The third team was comprised of Flanagan and Doljes, ends; John and Dean, tackles; Mazza and Jacques, guards; Fisher, center; Hartman, quarterback; Bellile and Cisk, halfbacks, and Schuelke, full-back.

50 Report for 1st
H. S. Cage Drill*Opening Game With St.
Mary Is Changed to Wednesday, Nov. 23

Fifty basketball hopefuls, including a portion of sophomores, reported to Coaches Joseph Shields and Myrlon Seims of Appleton High school last night. The Sophs were turned over to Coaches Marvin Babler and Edgar Hagene.

The prospective varsity squad numbered about 35 boys and showed three lettermen and ten or more boys who were on the reserve squad last season and who did a lot of playing. The lettermen were Bill Besch, Bob Bailey and Bob Morris. Drills this week will be designed

If consistency is a jewel, Roy Bellin, Wisconsin's senior tight halfback is a gem without a flaw. Never considered brilliant, Bellin is a "players' player"—the kind of a lad who reaches the heights "when the chips are all down." Regular left halfback in 1936, he was shifted to right half last fall and had hard work adapting himself to the new position but after a year of it and a spring practice session, Bellin is now playing the game of his life—running, punting, passing, receiving, blocking or tackling—it's all one to him and when the going gets tough, Bellin is at his best, as becomes a great competitor.

Enrolled in the school of commerce, Bellin keeps his grades at a point where Harry Stuhldreher, Badger coach, never has to worry about his eligibility. Bellin was graduated from Whitefish Bay High school, Milwaukee, where he starred in three sports but at Wisconsin, he has gone in only for football.

Heslton Will Address Cagers

Viking Coach to be Principal Speaker at Peninsula Loop Banquet

Fish Creek, Wis. — Bernie Heslton, football coach at Lawrence college, Appleton, has been secured as the principal speaker for the Peninsula Basketball conference banquet to be held at the Fish Creek hotel Wednesday, Nov. 16. The conference, composed of three high schools in Door county, Sevastopol, Gibraltar and Brussels; two schools in Kewaunee county, Luxemburg and Casco, and one school in Manitowoc county, Mishicot, is holding the banquet for the squad members of the six teams before the season opens on Dec. 2, instead of waiting until the close of play next spring as is usual. The various coaches take this means of getting the boys acquainted. More than 100 players and their coaches will attend the banquet.

Coach Horace Frieman at Gibraltar high here and Principal Ivan Lausche at Sevastopol are in charge of arrangements and have secured several motion pictures of basketball games, and others which show the fundamentals of the game. Coach Heslton will go into the finer points of the game for the benefit of the conference players.

Musical students at Gibraltar will furnish the music for the occasion to develop wind, and will reveal the ball handling ability of the boys. At the end of the week the first cut probably will be made. It was announced today by high school authorities, that the first game, Menasha St. Mary here, will be played on Nov. 23, the evening before Thanksgiving vacation. It was moved up two days so that janitors can clean the high school building over the weekend, preparatory to the open house program, Dec. 4 and 5.

Badger Stadium Is Sold Out for Minnesota Game

Gophers, Bruised From
N. D. Game. Hear
Scouting Reports

MADISON —(AP)—Wisconsin's bright prospects of winning its first Big Ten title in 26 years in a renewal of the middle west's oldest football rivalry stirred Badger partisans to frenzied excitement today.

All tickets for the titular Wisconsin-Minnesota game Saturday were sold And it was as easy to get hotel accommodations as seats on the 50 yard line. Camp Randall Stadium's capacity is 37,000.

Some 5,000 students and townspeople hailed the return yesterday of the Badgers from Los Angeles where they had conquered U. C. L. A. on the heels of a decisive victory over Northwestern.

Title hopes burned more brightly with the announcement halfback Roy Bellin, injured at Los Angeles, would be in shape and the team at full strength for the golden Gophers Saturday.

Not since 1932 has Wisconsin whipped the Gophers. In the long series which began in 1890, the Badgers have won 15 games, while losing 27. Five were ties.

Fullback Howie Weiss, senior from Fort Atkinson, Wis., who has played brilliantly through the season, will be the Badgers' acting captain for the third time Saturday. Coach Harry Stuhldreher appoints a captain for each game.

After their reception yesterday, the Badgers took a brisk workout to shake off travel kinks. Stuhldreher indicated scrimmages would be minimized this week to guard against injuries for the title struggle.

Hear Scouting Report
Meanwhile, Minnesota, bruised from its Notre Dame battle, took the customary Monday layoff from practice and listened to scout's report on Wisconsin. Coach Bernie Bierman made little criticism of the Gophers' play against the Irish, but warned that the Badgers would be equally tough.

Ohio State and Michigan, still enjoying title possibilities which are contingent upon Wisconsin and Minnesota playing to a tie, held contrasting drills as they prepared for their meeting at Columbus. Michigan did little more than watch movies of its 21 to 0 Buckeye defeat last year. Ohio State went to work on its forward passing attack.

Indiana, too, passed up a rest as it prepared for the "old oaken bucket" engagement with Purdue at L. Fayette which was expected to draw more than 30,000 persons, a record for the all Hoosier battle. Purdue listened to scout's reports.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy returned to the guiding seat at Chicago today after turning over the team to Capt. Lew Hamity yesterday while he watched from the sidelines. Illinois, the Maroon foe this week, drilled on signals after being warned against Chicago's ace pass receivers—Bob Wasem and John Davidson.

Northwestern drew a rest preparatory to opening drills for the game with undefeated Notre Dame, which also vacationed as Coach Elmer Layden went hunting.

Iowa, which will meet Nebraska rested too as reports circulated a coach had been named to succeed Irl Tubbs. University officials denied the reports.

And Punts With Equal Ability

University, Miss. —(AP)—Ask old grads of the University of Mississippi about the fine showing of their alma mater on the football field this season and nine out of ten start singing the praises of Parker Hall.

Hall, a six-foot, one-inch, 195-pound back of Tunica, Miss., who runs, punts and passes with almost equal ability, is credited largely with furnishing that extra something which has sent the rebels through the current season with but one defeat up to date.

In the eight games played he has gained 1,141 yards running and 693 yards passing, and has an almost unbelievable gain of 9.9 yards for each time he has handled the ball. In addition he is leading scorer in the Southeastern conference with a total of 64 points—ten touchdowns and four points from tries after touchdowns. He has thrown eight touchdown passes.

His best punt of the year was for 73 yards and his longest pass of the season a 62-yard heave. Thus far his longest run from scrimmage was for 60 yards.

Scouting Reports

MADISON —(AP)—Wisconsin's bright prospects of winning its first Big Ten title in 26 years in a renewal of the middle west's oldest football rivalry stirred Badger partisans to frenzied excitement today.

All tickets for the titular Wisconsin-Minnesota game Saturday were sold And it was as easy to get hotel accommodations as seats on the 50 yard line. Camp Randall Stadium's capacity is 37,000.

Some 5,000 students and townspeople hailed the return yesterday of the Badgers from Los Angeles where they had conquered U. C. L. A. on the heels of a decisive victory over Northwestern.

Title hopes burned more brightly with the announcement halfback Roy Bellin, injured at Los Angeles, would be in shape and the team at full strength for the golden Gophers Saturday.

Not since 1932 has Wisconsin whipped the Gophers. In the long series which began in 1890, the Badgers have won 15 games, while losing 27. Five were ties.

Fullback Howie Weiss, senior from Fort Atkinson, Wis., who has played brilliantly through the season, will be the Badgers' acting captain for the third time Saturday. Coach Harry Stuhldreher appoints a captain for each game.

After their reception yesterday, the Badgers took a brisk workout to shake off travel kinks. Stuhldreher indicated scrimmages would be minimized this week to guard against injuries for the title struggle.

Meanwhile, Minnesota, bruised from its Notre Dame battle, took the customary Monday layoff from practice and listened to scout's report on Wisconsin. Coach Bernie Bierman made little criticism of the Gophers' play against the Irish, but warned that the Badgers would be equally tough.

Ohio State and Michigan, still enjoying title possibilities which are contingent upon Wisconsin and Minnesota playing to a tie, held contrasting drills as they prepared for their meeting at Columbus. Michigan did little more than watch movies of its 21 to 0 Buckeye defeat last year. Ohio State went to work on its forward passing attack.

Indiana, too, passed up a rest as it prepared for the "old oaken bucket" engagement with Purdue at L. Fayette which was expected to draw more than 30,000 persons, a record for the all Hoosier battle. Purdue listened to scout's reports.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy returned to the guiding seat at Chicago today after turning over the team to Capt. Lew Hamity yesterday while he watched from the sidelines. Illinois, the Maroon foe this week, drilled on signals after being warned against Chicago's ace pass receivers—Bob Wasem and John Davidson.

Northwestern drew a rest preparatory to opening drills for the game with undefeated Notre Dame, which also vacationed as Coach Elmer Layden went hunting.

Iowa, which will meet Nebraska rested too as reports circulated a coach had been named to succeed Irl Tubbs. University officials denied the reports.

Marquette Brushes Up on Pass Defense

Up on Pass Defense

Milwaukee —(AP)—A last-minute brushing up on forward pass defense is occupying the Marquette University football squad before it departs tomorrow on its invasion of the southwest. The Avalanche meets Arizona and Texas Tech on successive Saturdays.

Michigan State was too effective with its forward passes last Saturday to please Coach Paddy Driscoll. All three of the Spartans touchdowns were made on aerials. Driscoll, however, expressed pleasure at Marquette's much improved running attack.

Cliff Burton Showing With Oshkosh All-Stars This Year
MENASHA — Cliff Burton, who played fine basketball last year, is one of the Oshkosh All-Star basketball recruits who will show when the Stars meet their first major test at the Menasha High school gymnasium next Sunday afternoon. He was considered the best forward ever to leave Lawrence and can do a fine job at the jump shot as center as well as forward.

He is a hook shot artist and great under the basket, getting more than his share of the rebounds. He will have to step in order to get the regular starting

Holy Name Cagers in Their First Workout

Kimberly — The Kimberly Holy Name grade school basketball team started practice sessions Monday afternoon at the clubhouse in preparation for its first game of the season which is scheduled Dec. 1.

The Kimberly squad has two lettermen around whom to build, in addition to four others who expect to be back with the team before the season opens. The lettermen are F. Van Cuyk and Butch Larson who were in the initial workout Monday.

Tony Van Himbergen, Bob Willis, Jack Fleweger and L. Krueger expect to be in uniform before Dec. 1. Gerald Mauthe, Jim Smiths, C. Gaffney, L. Gaffney, and C. Van Cuyk, who showed ability with reserves last season, will be with the regulars this year.

Monday's workout dealt mostly with shooting baskets, dribbling and passing. Coach Matt Dupont was in charge. About 25 pupils of the fourth and fifth grade also were out Monday passing and shooting and getting details on the game. This will be continued throughout the season.

3 Lettermen on Shawano Indian Basketball Squad

But Coach Dilts Will Have 37 Players From Whom To Pick Team

SHAWANO — The state champion Shawano Indians yesterday began their task of defending state and conference titles, with 37 hopefuls appearing for the opening practice under the direction of Coach Clifford Dilts. The Shawano warriors have lost no time in getting started. Friday they wound up their football season with a 46-0 win at Clintonville and yesterday's practice was prefaced with a check-in of football equipment.

Nor have they any time to lose. Green Bay East will play host to the Diltsmen on Nov. 23, in Shawano's only non-conference encounter before plunging into the 12-game conference season with Clintonville visiting Shawano on Dec. 2.

A tilt game with East high and a tilt at Marion, along with the conference game, makes up a stiff 15-game schedule for the Maroon and Black, between Nov. 23 and March 3.

Among the 37 candidates at Monday's practice were three varsity lettermen — Billy Reed, Jim Schveers, and Urban Gottschalk. Gottschalk, a forward who has occasionally played center, is in his third basketball year and is the veteran of the squad. Billy Reed, now a sophomore, played guard last year and captured the conference scoring crown. Jim Schveers, a lanky center, developed nicely into varsity caliber during last year's play and the three should form a strong nucleus for this year's team.

Eight more candidates claim extensive B team experience in the 1937-38 campaign. Led by Merle Cooper, a tall center who worked with the varsity squad much of the time last year, they include: Vern Rosenow, Harold Lahn, John Waukechon, Ione Jelinek, Myron Gueller, Hugo Meifert, and Frank Hacker. A number of aspiring sophomores, most of them with freshman experience, make up the balance of the squad.

The 1938-39 schedule:
Nov. 22—East high at Green Bay.
Dec. 2—Clintonville at Shawano.
Dec. 9—New London at New London.

Dec. 16—Neenah at Shawano.
Dec. 20—Kaukauna at Kaukauna.
Dec. 29—East high, Green Bay at Shawano.

Jan. 3—Menasha at Shawano.
Jan. 13—West De Pere at De Pere.

Jan. 20—Menasha at Menasha.
Jan. 24—Marion at Marion.
Jan. 27—Clintonville at Clintonville.

Feb. 3—New London at Shawano.
Feb. 10—Neenah at Neenah.
Feb. 17—Kaukauna at Shawano.
March 3—West De Pere at Shawano.

Milwaukee — Unprecedented interest in fencing, with 115 candidates trying out for the team, has been recorded at Marquette university. Capt. Jean St. Maurice, native Louisianian who learned the sport in France and has coached movie stars and collegians, is now in charge of sabers and foils at Marquette.

Texas Christian is undefeated and is leading the Southwest conference. Texas Tech. and Iowa State are also unbeaten, while Wisconsin is setting the pace in the Western conference. Other tulip tops have turned in their share of victories.

BUY NO ANTI-FREEZE

...until you read these facts about Du Pont "Zerone"

A FRIENDLY WARNING: You cannot be sure of getting the best value in anti-freeze until you know what Du Pont has to offer in "Zerone."

First, extraordinary anti-freeze protection. Scientific tests prove that "Zerone" would keep water from freezing solid even at 215° below zero. You'll never encounter temperatures like that, so you can be sure "Zerone" used in accordance with directions will protect your car in the coldest weather you'll ever experience.

The materials from which "Zerone" is made are so effective you need comparatively little "Zerone" to achieve protection. That's economy. Properly used, replacements of "Zerone" are little indeed—and that's economy, too.

Furthermore, scientific tests prove that the mixture of "Zerone" and water passes off engine heat better than water alone. That improves engine performance.

"Zerone" is a clean cooling system prevents formation of rust and corrosion—avoids power losses, helps save fuel and oil. Those are the facts, so ask your dealer to protect your radiator with "Zerone" today. It's only $1.00 a gallon. Du Pont, "Zerone" Division, Wilmington, Delaware.

Williamsport, Pa. —(AP)—Hunter Clayton K. Shabley banged away seven times at a squirrel perched on a tree limb.

Shabley pounced upon the animal and carried it home. When he got there, Shabley said he found the squirrel had died en route—apparently of fright.

Knox, Monmouth Clash Saturday

Winner Will Tie Coe for Second Place in Midwest Circuit

With but one game yet to be played, Knox at Monmouth on Friday, the chance remains for either to tie Coe for second place in the Midwest conference football standings. Although the contest is to be played on the Scot's home field, it should be considered a toss-up mainly because of the way Knox disposed of Coe the week previous.

Lawrence took a clear deed to the title the week before when it defeated Beloit to finish undefeated. Beloit is certain of fourth and should this Friday's game end in a tie it would move up to share third with Monmouth and the Siwash. With their schedules completed, Ripon, Cornell and Carleton have finished in sixth, seventh, and eighth spots, respectively.

Carleton won its first conference game when it beat Cornell at Northfield in the season's finale by a score of 6 to 0. In non-conference affairs Coe defeated Grinnell, Carroll dumped Ripon, and Augustana beat Monmouth. Besides the final league game this week to be played between Knox and Monmouth on Friday, Cornell travels to Ruston, Louisiana, to meet Louisiana Tech on Saturday.

Conference standings:

OUT-OF-DOORS

TIPS FOR THE DUCK HUNTER

By Cal Johnson

EACH year we hear about accidents that are caused through carelessness while hunting waterfowl. These are usually caused by the ignorance of novice hunters. The "green" hunter is also frequently blamed for disturbing the sport of others in his vicinity, sometimes unintentionally or from lack of knowledge of what is to be expected of him.
The following precautions will help to eliminate a few grievances and will add materially in making the day spent in the reeds and rushes all the more enjoyable—and perhaps even safer.
Motorboats and outboard motors should be used as little as possible when traveling out to the shooting grounds. Pumping, rowing, or paddling cause much less disturbance during the early morning hours and frighten the ducks less than the explosions of a motor driving a boat.
Consider Other Fellow Hunters. Be aware of ducks that are out of range in the range of a beginner or careless hunter. Nothing is accomplished by such tactics except the annoyance of others. "Jump" shooting should not be started until after the early morning light is over. It only acts to disturb others who may be shooting from a blind.
Watch carefully where your ducks drop after they have been hit, and lose no time in going after "cripples." Many ducks swim away to die later among the grasses of marshes when badly wounded. By searching for them and finding them quickly and killing them you will be doing an act of mercy—the humane thing practiced by all real sportsmen.
Do not shoot at gulls, blue herons, bittern or any other birds which are protected by law. Learn to measure your success by something besides the number of ducks you "kill."
Always take care to see that the safety of your shotgun is on when the gun is not in actual firing use.

Kaukauna Gridders Third In Conference Scoring; Reed, Shawano Star, First

MENASHA—Billy Reed, sophomore star of the Shawano High school football team, leads all scorers in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference with 63 points in six games, a summary of the records shows. The Indian half-back accounted for nine touchdowns and nine extra points in spite of the fact that he was handicapped by injuries for several games late in the season.
Second place in the scoring race goes to Brennan, fullback, on the Shawano team, who scored six touchdowns and two extra points for a total of 38. Between the two of them, Reed and Brennan accounted for 101 points or more than one-fourth of the 388 points scored by all teams during the season.
Carl Giordana, sophomore star of the championship Kaukauna High school team, ended in third place in the scoring race with 34 points on five touchdowns and four extra points. Donald Drucks, senior full-back from Menasha, likewise scored five touchdowns but got no extra points and so is in fourth place with 30 points.
Four players are closely bunched for the next four places. They are Hammer of West De Pere with 21, Kobussen of Kaukauna with 19, Huzzar of New London with 18 and Roland O'Brien of Menasha with 17. Ninth on the list is Ike Poepeke of New London with 14 points while Warren Kettering of Neenah and Martin of Clintonville are tied for tenth place with seven points each. Nineteen other players scored one touchdown each.
Although they did not win the league championship the Indians piled up the best offensive and defensive records in the league. They scored 127 points in six games for an average of better than 21 points a game. They scored 19 touchdowns and 13 extra points to a total of 20 points for their opponents. In four games they held their opponents scoreless while Menasha High lost by a 27 to 7 score. Kaukauna was the only other team to score on the Indians, but the Kaws come off with a 13 to 7 victory. That defeat cost the Indians the conference title.
Kaukauna won the league title with five victories and a tie in six games. They scored 73 points on 11 touchdowns and seven extra points. The Kaws were scored on in every game except one but showed enough of an edge on offense to come through each time with the exception of the Neenah game, which was a 6 to 6 tie.
Menasha High school accounted for 61 points collecting nine touchdowns and five extra points while holding their opponents to 41. They ended in third place in the conference with four victories and two defeats.
Rockets Low Scorers
Although the Neenah High school team won two games, lost two and tied one, they had one of the lowest scoring teams in the conference as well as one of the best defensive records. The Red Rockets scored only four touchdowns and one extra point for 25 points. Their opponents scored four touchdowns and two extra points for a total of 28.
West De Pere won two and lost four games in the conference. They scored 45 points but their defense permitted opponents to score 59. New London had a bad year, losing five games. However, they scored 46 points of which six were in a 13 to 6 defeat by Kaukauna while the other 40 were scored in a victory over Clintonville.
Clintonville, in the league cellar with no victories and five defeats, had the poorest offensive and defensive records. The Truckers permitted 22 touchdowns and 13 extra points during the season. However, they did score their first touchdowns in two years of conference competition when they lost to Kaukauna 20 to 13. In fact, the Truckers at one time in the game were ahead of the eventual conference champions.

Trojan Hopes of Bowl Bid Soaring

Conference to Name Representative Before Notre Dame Tilt

Los Angeles—(AP)—Southern California's hopes of playing in the Rose Bowl soared today with announcement the Pacific coast conference would select its representative before the Trojan-Notre Dame football game Dec. 3.
Prof. Hugh C. Willett, president, said the 10 conference members would vote by noon Nov. 28. "We have always followed the procedure of voting after the final November games," he added.
The Trojans and California, each defeated once in conference play, are tied for first place. California plays Stanford Saturday and the Trojans face University of California at Los Angeles Thanksgiving day.
Southern California defeated California 13-7 but lost 7-8 to oft-beaten Washington Saturday.
Football observers said it has been an unwritten conference rule, in case of a tie, to favor the winner of the annual game between the two teams. Thus Southern California might get the bowl bid if the Trojans and Bears wind up the season deadlocked.
Bowl contention on the Trojan campus had been shaky since the Washington defeat because it was feared the conference would hesitate to name Southern California if it lost to Notre Dame, even though it defeated U. C. L. A.
An accidental pull of the trigger may seriously wound a friend or yourself.
Point the barrel of your gun downward when carrying it. Be sure to see that all the shells have been removed from the magazine and barrel before placing the gun away in the cabin for the night. It's usually the so-called "unloaded" gun that kills accidentally—meaning the one you thought was clear of shells. Observe the hunting laws and prohibitions and observe the rules of common sense in precaution.

Oshkosh Cagers, Globe Trotters, Meet in 2 Tilts

Schedule Non-League Games at Oshkosh and Waupaca This Week

Oshkosh — An early season tilt of the Oshkosh All Stars will be provided in two games this week with the clever Harlem Globe Trotters, whose winning percentage of games over a period of more than 10 years is believed to be better than that for any other team.
The All Stars, Western division champions in the National Basketball league last season, will play the colored quintet in Oshkosh Thursday evening and, on Friday will meet them at Waupaca. In one of the two games between the teams last season, both of which were won by Oshkosh, the All Stars were pressed to nose out a 24 to 22 victory.
In 10 full seasons, the Globe Trotters won 1,310 games and lost 118 for a winning percentage of .918. Captain of the team is Inman Jackson, a former star with City College of New York. He is considered a star in the art of showmanship. Harry Rusan, a veteran forward, was selected an All-American college forward at Paul Quinn college, Waco, Tex. Teaming with him is Zach Clayton, who has seen action with the New York Rens and the Palace Royal Five of Philadelphia. In the backcourt will be Bill Ford and Ted Strong, both of whom are veterans with the team. Another outstanding player is Johnny Watts, who starred at Beloit High school and La Crosse State Teachers college.
The All Stars have a roster of 11 players, including three newcomers this season, and are strong in every position. Le Roy Edwards, All-American while at the University of Kentucky, who scored 1,019 points last season, and Scott Armstrong, formerly of Butler university, will alternate at center. At the forward berths are Pete Berboski, Wisconsin; Ray Adams, DePaul; Augie Vander Meulen; Carroll; Emmet Birk, North Dakota; and Cliff Burton, Lawrence college. The team's four guards are: Guyette; Ray Hamann, Wisconsin; Herman Witasek, North Dakota; and Frank Linksey, DePaul.
Four exhibition games with the Akron, O. Firestones will be played in as many cities of the state next week. The All Stars will meet them first at Menasha, 6 Sunday afternoon, Nov. 20; at Antioch, Nov. 21; at De Pere, Nov. 22; and at Fond du Lac, Nov. 24.
The league schedule will open with Pittsburgh in Oshkosh, Nov. 26.

Pro Golfers to Elect President

George Jacobus Facing Battle for Seventh Consecutive Term

Chicago—(AP)—The National Professional Golfers association faced the job of selecting tournament sites and the possibility of a hot election fight as it opened its annual convention today.
George Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. Y., storm center of recent controversies within the organization and up for his seventh consecutive term as president, said the election probably would be held tomorrow.
New York — (AP)—The United States Golf association will stand pat on its 1938 officers for the coming year. Archie M. Reid of the St. Andrews Golf club, Yonkers, N. Y., has been nominated to succeed himself as president, and the entire list of officers presented by the nominating committee remains unchanged. Other officers nominated included: Vice presidents, Harold W. Pierce, Brookline, Mass., and R. Arthur Wood, Highland Park, Ill.; secretary, Frank M. Hardt, Merton, Pa.; treasurer, Jess W. Sweetser, Bronxville, N. Y.

Yankees to Propose New Player Contract

New York — (AP)—The New York Yankees, annoyed by the holdout stars of the past few seasons, are expected to propose a new form of player contract at this winter's major league baseball meetings. The change would call for salaries to start March 1 each year instead of with the opening of the season.
Such a shift would enable a club to penalize players who dodge spring training and pre-season exhibitions by fining them. It also would penalize the clubs, for they'd have to pay salaries to a flock of players they wouldn't expect to keep after the opening of the campaign.
Milwaukee — "Ring Out Aheval" is still the school song at Marquette university, but Coach Paddy Driscoll says the school is humming "The Eyes of Texas." They met Southern Methodist and Texas Christian on this way this fall and will conclude their season against Texas Tech at Lubbock, Nov. 26. Next year, Marquette will invade the Lone Star state twice for tilts with S. M. U. and Tech.

Harry Thomas Is Stopped in Third By Tony Galento

But Beer Drinking Heavy-weight's Showing Is Unimpressive

BY TED MEIER
PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Fight fans wondered today about Tony Galento's unimpressive return to the ring after an absence of four months.
Appearing in his first fight since he was taken ill with pneumonia in midsummer, the beer-loving saloon keeper of Orange, N. J., scored a three-round technical knockout over Harry Thomas of Eagle Bend, Minn., at convention hall last night.
A crowd of 10,000 which Promoter Herman Taylor said paid a gross gate of $23,000, boomed long and loud as Thomas dropped to the floor five times in the third round before Referee Tommy O'Keefe stopped the fight after 2:20 of the round. Galento weighed 238, Thomas 198.
Galento, ranked by the National Boxing association as the leading challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight championship, first flattened Thomas for a count of seven. The second count went to four, the third to nine and the fourth to six.
The fifth time Thomas was down for eight. He tried to get to his feet, but when he fell to "one knee" Referee O'Keefe waved Galento's hand aloft in token of victory.
Most of Galento's punches were left hook and seemed light blows, but Tony explained in the dressing room afterward "I hit him on the temple. I don't know why the crowd booed. I've knocked out tougher guys with lighter punches."
"Yeh," chimed in Joe Jacks, Tony's manager. "What can the guy do? He gets out there and does everything that's asked of him. It isn't his fault if the other guy can't take it. Did you see those socks Tony hit me behind the ear coming out of a clinch," Thomas said. "That got me dizzy. Later, I thought he was open and tried to nail him, but he got his left in just like Louis did against me. This Guy Galento is shrewder than he looks and he can punch, too."
Galento, making a series of wild rushes, won the first two rounds although he appeared puzzled by Thomas' crouch.

Manhattan Wins X-Country Run

Billy Smith of Penn State Walks Off With Individual Honors

New York — (AP)—Michigan State's five-year reign in the intercollegiate A. A. A. cross country championships has been brought to an end, mostly by the graduation of its star runners, but so far there's no sign of a real successor to the Spartans.
Manhattan succeeded Michigan State as team champion in the 30th run at Van Cortlandt park yesterday but failed to dominate the show. Billy Smith, Penn State sophomore, who never has been beaten in a college cross country race, walked off with individual honors but failed to get much support from his teammates.
The final team count was Manhattan 143, Michigan State 76, Pittsburgh 90, Alfred 109 and Penn State 110.
Smith romped five miles over the Van Cortlandt park hills while a strong, cold wind called for more speed, in 26 minutes, 33 1/2 seconds. Manhattan's Joe Moclair chased him all the way but finished some 200 yards behind in 27 minutes flat. Then came Donald Smith of Maine, 27:12; Richard Frey, Michigan State, 27:15, and Lawrence Moriarity, Manhattan, 27:27.
Manhattan runners also placed eighth, fifteenth and sixteenth while Michigan State's other four came in ninth, tenth, twenty-seventh and thirtieth. Each moved up one place in the team scoring, as Morgan Elmer of Lehigh, who finished sixth, wasn't competing for the team trophy.

Notre Dame Football Squad Has Simple Victory Recipe

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — (AP)—The Notre Dame football team, which has won seven straight games and has only two more to go for its tenth undefeated untied season and possibly its fourth national championship, has a simple recipe for victory.
The Irish, in the words of Coach Elmer Layden, play "to win the next game."
The coach said his men weren't thinking of their season's record now and "won't until the season is over."
"We don't play for a national championship," he explained, "but to win the next game. Then, at the end of the season, if a national championship is ours, so much the better."
Team Balanced
Layden said it was balance of passing, running, kicking and defensive play that made the 1938 Irish good.
They have beaten Kansas, Georgia Tech, Illinois, Carnegie Tech, Army, Navy and Minnesota. They will play Northwestern next Saturday and end their schedule against Southern California Dec. 3.
Notre Dame will not take part in the New Year's day Rose Bowl game. A rule adopted in 1926 prohibits Irish teams from playing post-season engagements in any sport.
If this year's eleven finishes the season without a defeat or tie, it will be the first to turn the trick since the death of Coach Knute Rockne. The famous mentor, killed in an airplane accident March 31, 1931, guided the 1924 team to Notre Dame's first national championship and repeated the feat in 1929 and 1930.
The Irish have won 299 games, lost 65 and tied 22 since 1887.

Chamber to Admit Women to Football Banquet This Year

Fritz Crisler Will Talk at Annual Grid Dinner Nov. 29

WOMEN will be given their first opportunity to attend the annual Chamber of Commerce football banquet which will be held Nov. 29 at the Masonic Temple, it was decided at a meeting of the forum committee of the Chamber last night.
The committee selected the Masonic Temple to accommodate the crowd of more than 500 persons who are expected to attend this year. In other years, the banquet was held at the Conway hotel and attendance was limited to about 200 persons.
John Reeve, president of the L. club, and chairman of the ticket committee, said only persons who have advance reservations will be admitted. Tickets are being sold at the Pond Sport Shop and at the Johnston Book store. All reservations must be made by Thanksgiving day.
Crisler Will Talk
Fritz Crisler, head football coach and assistant athletic director at the University of Michigan, has been secured to address the crowd which will be gathered to honor Lawrence gridgers, champions of the Midwest conference for the first time in history, and the Appleton High school grid squad.
Crisler, reputed to be a fine speaker, got his football training at Chicago university under the famous A. A. Stagg, later coached at the University of Minnesota and at Princeton.
Joseph Kofford will be toastmaster and Dr. R. H. Purdy, president of the chamber, will preside at the banquet. Presentation of awards including gold footballs for the champions, will be made by Bernice Hesolon, Lawrence grid coach, and Wallace Cole, high school football mentor.
Werner Witte will cooperate with the toastmaster in arranging the speakers table, place and program. H. D. Purdy, president of the Michigan club, also is on the committee.
The L. club is sending invitations to all former Lawrence football greats who can be contacted. The time of the banquet and deadline for the sale of reservations will be announced at civic and service club meetings.

60 Writers Vote Notre Dame No. 1 Eleven in Country

Texas Christian Ranked Second, Tennessee Third, Duke Fourth

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK — (AP)—The way things have been going lately, almost any team that hasn't had the last lick out of it is good for at least a vote or two in the weekly Associated Press football ranking poll. Right now, however, Notre Dame is on top of a heap that includes 31 colleges.
Where the Irish will be in another week or two is another question. They were hardly in sight a few weeks ago. Then they whipped Army, Navy and Minnesota on successive Saturdays and earned the No. 1 ranking by a comfortable margin over Texas Christian, last week's leader. They play Northwestern, first conqueror of Minnesota, next Saturday, then they go on to tackle Southern California Dec. 3.
Notre Dame drew 60 first place votes from 92 sports writers who participated in the fifth poll of the season. The total was 887 points against 786 for T. C. U., which was picked No. 1 by 19 writers. Northwestern drew 23 points for sixteenth place and that combination easily makes the tussle of the Irish and the Wildcats this week's foremost gridiron attraction.
The complete ranking (first place votes in brackets, points scored on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis) follows:
Notre Dame (60) 887
Texas Christian (19) 786
Tennessee (5) 639
Duke (5) 586
Pittsburgh (2) 532
Carnegie Tech (1) 407
Oklahoma (1) 315
Cornell 194
California 138
Holy Cross 130
Second ten: Santa Clara 79, Wisconsin 52, Southern California 40, Dartmouth 38, Villanova 26, Northwestern 23, Michigan 19, Fordham 18, Texas Tech 17, Alabama 16.

Bowl Talk Hits Georgetown U.

Hoyas Have Outstanding Record for Current Grid Season

Washington — (AP)—There was bowl talk today at Georgetown University — undefeated and untied among major eastern football teams.
Coached by a former student, Jack Hagerty—Georgetown is headed for one of its most successful seasons in 63 years.
Its backers aren't prospecting for the Rose Bowl but are eager for a place in the Sugar, Rice, Cotton or Orange bowl.
The Hilltoppers have only one more game — against crippled Maryland Saturday. It should turn into a one-sided victory for Georgetown.
"Wait until that game's over," cautioned Hagerty, "and then I'll do some bowl talking."
The only feature that detracts from Georgetown's 1938 record is the type of teams it has beaten. It started out with Hampden-Sydney, Roanoke and Randolph-Nacon.
The contests were one-sided. Games that followed however, were stiffer.
Georgetown beat Manhattan, Temple, Bucknell and West Virginia, by impressive scores.

"Best" Pro Teams To Clash Sunday

Packers Have Scored Most Points, Giants Have Best Defense

New York — (AP)—When the Green Bay Packers and the New York Giants meet here Sunday, it will be the best offensive team against the leading defensive eleven in the National Football league.
The Packers, leaders of the Western division, have tallied 220 points to tie their own scoring record and Sunday will complete their schedule. Whether they break the record depends on their showing against the Giants, a team that has held its last two opponents scoreless and allowed only 69 points all season. The Giants also have held the opposition to an average of 178 yards a game.
Green Bay also ranks second to the Washington Redskins in ground gained with an average of 270 yards a game as compared to 280 by the Redskins. The Giants are close behind with a 265 average.
The Chicago Bears are runners-up to the Packers in scoring with 163 points. The Giants still lead in aerial completions with 74 out of 111 for an average of 52 per cent.

Claims Naziism Is Outgrowth of War Settlement

Ripon Professor Says Its Too Late to Act Against Hitler

World war to make the world safe for democracy; a slogan with which there is nothing wrong; but after the war she ran away from the conference and left Europe to the mercy of those nations so filled with vengeance that they couldn't see straight, and the world was made safe for fascism and nazism, declared Dr. Ludwig Freund, Ripon college professor, at a World Fellowship supper meeting Monday evening in the Twin City Y.W.C.A.

"People in Germany knew what the nazi movement was about, they knew the whole philosophy and the leading figures were the scum of the German mind and nation; there were statesmen in Europe who seeing the movement grow, knowing that it was the resurrection of the pre-Christian barbarism, closed their eyes and still clamped down on the German Republic which needed time and respite," declared the speaker.

"Diplomatic Stupidity"

"Even as late as January, 1933, France and England had opportunity to halt the rise of nazism but when a military general was made vice-chancellor, they, fearing it might lead to the rearmament of Germany, told Von Hindenberg they would prefer Hitler in the vice-chancellor chair. That was a big piece of diplomatic stupidity.

"Fascism and the doctrine of power is anti-Christian. It despises Christianity because it teaches compassion. In Mein Kampf, the English edition by the way is but 1-3 of the German, Hitler says 'we have to be realists. We have believed too long in idealism, in religion, in brotherhood, in compassion, in peace. Now history has to be rewritten.' There is no hope now. It is too late to do anything now. Germany has become the strongest nation in Europe and she has given impetus to Hitler's declaration that Germany will be more powerful, more powerful so she can dominate the world and make it safe for aryanism and German dominance. Once you apply a different philosophy than Christianity you get anti-Christian force and I detest it because it means the end of civilization.

"Hoped for Reason"

"Germany hoped for reason, for help from the democracies but the treaty of Versailles demonstrated that she could not get what she needed.

"However, all this is not an excuse for Hitler. You must remember that there is nothing in the German people that makes for hatred of foreigners but it is a people in despair who might fall prey to a demagogue who thinks he is the voice of God. Everytime you have 'have not' nations, they are the disturbers of peace. You cannot wholly blame either Hitler or Mussolini.

"However, if you study the factors of fascism and nazism philosophy, you should do so with great interest to imbue with a sense of fear that will stir you to action, for we cannot pass too lightly over present day affairs.

"The nazi philosophy is the state, not for the individual, but the individual for the state. The philosophy says that liberty is something given along certain limitations, that it gives people no right to overthrow the state, that carried to extremes, liberty means anarchy. It is hard to disprove this point. Power and more power is the cry.

Train Youngsters

Each year, all the youngsters from 10 to 14 years of age, of good moral and political character and the best physical specimens, are sent to schools for future leaders. At 24 they present themselves again to the state and of this number, 1,000 are selected each year to enter the schools for Nordic Knights, one in the east, one in the south, one in the west and one in the north. Here they are further trained in the codes of human behavior adaptable to the nazi philosophy, in the force philosophy, and they come out pre-phibed patterns of nazism, devoid of all originality of thought, independence of thought, and pagans.

"It is too late for even economic pressure now, if you make concessions to a man like Hitler and to youth who dominate nazism, as Chamberlain and Daladier did, the consequence is that the philosophy of force is reinforced."

Outline Development

Dr. Freund prefaced his lecture with an outline of the development of the separate entities of state and culture stating that before the World war there was universal tendency toward democracy but it must be remembered that all European countries were traveling, for centuries, a road quite different from anything American. European civilization, from the collapse of the Roman empire, was characterized by beginning with Christianity, then the introduction of cultural elements, then political life. In America, economic interests developed first and the intensely spiritual cultural life has followed.

Europe today has the purely economic power politics but it must be remembered however that European traditions were colored at ways with a great deal of power politics all the time, the typical European form of despotism that pretends to be power God-giver. The totalitarian state is nothing more than another name for age old European despotism.

Neenah Cagers In Hard Drills For First Tilt

Have but 7 Practice Sessions to Prepare For Kaukauna

Neenah—Forty-five candidates for the Neenah high school basketball squad reported Saturday to Coach Ole Jorgensen, and at the first drill last night, the squad was to 25. Jorgensen reported today that another cut in the size of the squad will be made tonight.

The Rocket cagers will have only seven practice sessions to prepare for their opening game, a Northwestern Wisconsin conference clash with Kaukauna at Kaukauna Friday night, Nov. 25, and on the following evening, the Neenah quintet will tangle with Shorewood High school, Milwaukee, here.

While Coach Jorgensen has five lettermen as well as five other players who saw action last year on the squad, he hasn't time during the limited practice sessions to get the boys in proper physical condition, teach them all of the fundamentals and devote enough time to spotting promising players among the inexperienced cagers before the season gets underway.

Predicts Tough Race

The coach said, "We have to start right off playing the game in order to get in shape for the opening fracas.

Jorgensen also predicted a tough race for the conference championship this year. He said, "Practically every school has enough veteran players as a nucleus around which to build a team and they're all going to have big and fast quintets."

Because of the five returning lettermen, the Rockets will be one of the prominent contenders for the conference game hunting. They are Captain Dan Schmidt, forward; Warren Kettering, guard; Kenneth LaBumard, guard; Harold Hackstock, guard or forward, and Harlan Hesselman, guard. The other five veterans who will be bidding for first string berths are Henry Dupont, center; Donald Blank, center; Donald Bentzen, center; Leo Peterson, guard, and Buxton Kettering, forward.

Rotarians Hear Marquette Prof

'Vocational Guidance' Is Topic of Address At Clintonville

Clintonville — Prof. R. G. Hauko of Marquette university, Milwaukee, spoke to the Rotary club Monday noon at Hotel Marson on the subject "Vocational Guidance." He explained the work of a department at the university which tries to help a student select the vocation for which he is best fitted. Many young people have no definite vocation in mind when they enroll at a college or university and frequently the student has chosen a profession for which he is not suited. Through a series of tests and personal conferences, the instructors give the students their suggestions on a possible vocation or profession to follow.

Prof. Hauko also talked to the high school student body Monday afternoon on the development of personality and the choosing of a vocation.

Heil Tells Chicago How He Carried the State

Chicago — (P) — Governor-Elect Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin found time between trains yesterday to expound a bit of his political philosophy while giving a victory smile for the photographers.

"We sold industry to labor and labor to industry," he said when newsmen asked him to explain his smashing Republican victory in the Badger state last week. "People want to go back to sane government."

Heil came from Milwaukee and left for New York "to get away from telephones" and to speak at the New York automobile show.

Hand Called For Stronger Bid of Clubs

BY ELY CULBERTSON
LAST TUESDAY'S QUESTIONS

Question 25: The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1spade	Pass	2diamonds	Pass
2spades	Pass	3diamonds	Pass
3hearts	Pass	3spades	Pass
4spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

You are West, the opening leader, and hold:

♠ QJ2 ♥ K108 ♦ QJ10 ♣ A943

What do you lead?

Answer: You should lead the spade queen. No other lead is logical. Declarer obviously has a spade-heart two-suiter, and dummy presumably has go down with more spades than hearts, but with few of either. No sense attacking the diamond suit, and it would be silly to lead the club ace or away from it. (Twelve points demerit for diamond lead; 16 points demerit for club lead; 20 points demerit for heart lead. No demerit for spade jack lead.)

Question 26: Both sides, vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1diamond	Pass
1spade	Pass	?	?

You are South and hold:

♠ 1084 ♥ 73 ♦ AKQ95 ♣ Q84

What call do you make now?
Answer: You should pass. Your partner passed originally, hence his one spade response is not a force. There is no prospect of a game and any further bidding on your part may result in a set. (Ten points demerit for one no trump or two diamonds; 20 points demerit for two spades; 30 points demerit for any other bid.)

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question 33: With only East-West vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1spade	Pass	Pass	?

You are South and hold:

♠ 105 ♥ AJ3 ♦ K10984 ♣ K103

What call do you make?

Answer: You should pass. Your partner passed originally, hence his one spade response is not a force. There is no prospect of a game and any further bidding on your part may result in a set. (Ten points demerit for one no trump or two diamonds; 20 points demerit for two spades; 30 points demerit for any other bid.)

TODAY'S HAND

North-South vulnerable.

♠ 73 ♥ AJ3 ♦ K10984 ♣ K103

WEST EAST

♠ 108642 ♥ AKQ5

♠ 1084 ♥ KJ6

♠ J8532 ♥ 1074

♠ None ♥ 98

♠ 9 ♥ 52

♠ 9 ♥ 6

♠ KJ108543 ♥ 98

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1heart	Pass	2clubs	Pass
3no trump	Double	4clubs	Pass
5clubs	Double (final bid)

East passed over one heart in an effort to "trap" the vulnerable opponents. North had a close decision to decide over the two club response, whether to jump in no trump and thus express his great honor trick strength, or to give a vigorous club raise. I am inclined to think that the latter course would have been slightly better, but when East doubled three no trump the North-South partnership was guided in the right direction.

West made an opening lead which was unfortunate from his team's point of view, namely, his fourth best spade. Dummy played low. East won with the queen and tried to cash the king. Declarer ruffed and immediately took out trumps, then cashed the ace and king of diamonds. Now the spade jack was led from dummy. Declarer had had the vague idea of ruffing the spade jack, then attempting to pass a heart into East's hand, which would force a heart return up to dummy's A-Q. But when East covered the spade jack with the ace declarer "saw the light" and made a much safer play. Not only safer but simpler. He merely tossed a losing heart on the trick.

Now success was assured. East either had to return a heart to dummy's major tenace or lead another card that could be ruffed in dummy, while declarer discarded his own remaining heart loser.

The strategy played would not have worked if declarer had ruffed the spade jack and then led a heart, intending to duck. West could have squashed this plan by putting in the eight spot, thus forcing the queen and assuring the defense of two heart tricks.

TOMORROW'S HAND

North, dealer.

Joan Crawford leads the way in this season's chic. A new dinner ensemble glimpsed recently, was a Hattie Carnegie model of black crepe with long, fitted sleeves and a high waistline. A wide belt of gold kid, studded with rhinestones, provided the only touch to relieve the monotone. Her platform sandals were of matching gold kid, emphasized by platforms of black crepe matching the fabric of the dress.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE HOME Marie Schneider's Tested Recipes

When cream turns sour, do you wonder what to do with it? To have cream sour is no catastrophe, if you plan to use it for cooking purposes. Delicious and differently flavored foods can be made with sour cream — foods which will afford a welcome change in the family fare. Sour cream dishes have a flavor all their own and it is one to use occasionally for a change.

A sour cream spice cake, fresh and fragrant from the oven is a delight to the eye and to the palate that cannot be surpassed. Perhaps the family enjoys cup cakes, so make the tempting sour cream cakes, every mouthful is a treat. Sugar cookies are an old favorite, which children as well as grown-ups are fond of, and once the family finds them they will quickly disappear.

Miss Schneider

1-3 cup shortening 1 teaspoon cloves

1 cup brown sugar 1 teaspoon allspice

2 eggs 1 teaspoon soda

1 cup sour cream 1 cup raisins

2 cups flour 1 cup chopped nuts

1 teaspoon cinnamon

Beat eggs thoroughly. Add sugar, sifted flour, baking powder, soda, and salt together. Add alternately the sour cream and the sifted dry ingredients. Add vanilla and 1 cup chopped nuts may be added if desired. Bake in well greased, heated muffin tins in a moderately hot oven 400 degrees F. for 15 minutes, or until a golden brown.

SUGAR COOKIES

2 teaspoons baking powder 1 cup shortening

1 teaspoon soda 1 cup sour cream

1 teaspoon nutmeg 14 cups sugar

1 teaspoon vanilla 2 eggs 5 cups flour

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add beaten eggs. Sift flour, baking powder, soda and nutmeg together. Add to creamed mixture, alternately with sour cream. Mix thoroughly. Add vanilla. Chill thoroughly in refrigerator. Roll out and cut with floured cookie cutter and place on greased baking sheet. Sprinkle with sugar and bake in a moderate oven 375 degrees about 15 minutes.

My Neighbor Says—

To make large candles smaller when they refuse to fit candlesticks, dip ends of candles into boiling water until they are soft enough to mould with the fingertips to the desired size.

Add a slice of onion to tomatoes when they are first put on to stew. It may be removed later, but the flavor remains.

Two quarts of good garden loam, one pint of leafmold and one cup of sand makes an excellent potting soil for plants. Use plenty of broken pottery for drainage.

To remove a spot of oil spilled on a rug, rub the spot with gasoline until it disappears.

There is always danger that bulbs planted with an old-fashioned dibber will fall to reach the bottom of the hole, but will hang half-way down and soon decay. This danger can be obviated by planting with a trowel, of course, but most amateurs are looking for a planting method which is easier on the back. When a dibber is used it is always advisable to run a little sand into the bottom of the holes so that there will be no danger of air pockets under the bulbs. (Copyright, 1938)

Highly Inadvisable for Two Incessant Talkers to Marry

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I have been reading in the paper that Dr. Robert G. Foster, the educator, wants housewives to be paid $1,000 a year. He says this would make wives economically independent of their husbands, and keep the husbands from regarding themselves as masters and their wives as servants. I think this is a grand idea, for certainly housewives are the Forgotten Women. Wherever you go you will find the housewife the most tired, shabby, worn-out-looking woman present. Her hair is not fixed. She has not a cent to call her own. She never has a vacation. She has to be on the job twenty-four hours a day, and then her husband wonders what she does with her time and why she isn't satisfied. So I am all for bonuses for housewives.

ONE OF THEM.

It would certainly be fine and dandy if every housewife had a pocketbook bulging with hundred-dollar bills and nothing to do but buy herself good times. But until some magician arises who can turn the leaves on the trees into money, I fear that rosy dream can never become a reality.

The woman who is married to a poor man and who has a house full of children will always be the hardest-worked person in the world. She will always have to wrestle with pots and pans and the problem of stretching an insufficient income over her family needs. She will always have to be up nights with crying babies and have her nerves shattered by noisy youngsters. She will always have to offer herself as a sacrifice on the family altar and nobody will ever appreciate her until she is dead and gone.

It isn't strange that when the housewife looks at her business and professional sisters who have spent their money on their own backs instead of buying little Mary a new coat and Johnny a sweater like the other boys have, and who have taken little Freddy to the dentist instead of going to the beauty shop themselves, they feel that they have got a raw deal in life. But, in reality, they are not so badly off as they think they are.

True, they have no eight-hour day, but they don't have to punch the time clock on the dot and be on their tiptoes all the time. They can let their household tasks slide a bit if they don't feel like doing them, and lie down for an hour or so if they wake up with a sick headache. True, their husbands may be grouchy, fault-finding and unreasonable, but they have a job from which they can't be fired because the boss is cranky. The housewife may feel that it is hard lines to work for her husband and clothes, but the business woman seldom has much left over when she has paid for hers.

There is no more reason why any able-bodied, intelligent woman should be a parasite than there is why a man should be one. There are just as many jobs open to women as there are to men. Furthermore, you needn't feel that you are doing a cruelty to your sister in making her get up off of the do-nothing stool and stand on her own feet. She will be a hundred times happier than ever before because for the first time in her life she will have her own self-respect.

But don't under any circumstances, bring a wife in the house with a sister who has kept house for you. That is just going out of your way to hunt for trouble, and you will find it aplenty if you try it. At 50 you are hearing the last call to romance. Don't throw it away. Don't sacrifice your own happiness and that of the woman who loves you to your duty to your sister. You've done it. Now let her do her duty to you. (Copyright, 1938)

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have been very much attracted to a girl and now the time has come when I have got to make up my mind about whether I want to marry her or not. She is beautiful, charming, very sweet, the type that will make a good and wonderful wife, but the drawback is that she talks too much and on several occasions I have actually been bored to tears listening to her. The truth is I talk a lot myself, but when I am with her I can't get in a word edgewise. I am afraid that if I married her it might be terrible to have to listen to her tell her troubles that are magnified and enlarged into stories that last for hours. I would marry her in a minute otherwise. What do you think? C.S.W.

Answer:

I think it highly inadvisable for two talkers to marry. A babbling girl should always marry one of the strong, silent men who merely grunts when spoken to and who have unlimited fortitude and endurance. Likewise, the man who is enamored of the sound of his own voice. Even if you feel timid and shy, take a big breath and plunge.

Everybody feels fearful at times. But the successful and happy people greet their teeth and plunge ahead along the trail they know to be correct. Don't be a slave to emotions. Steer your life by your brain. But what would you advise Mar-celle to do regarding her job? Well, if they get living on a $85 per week income, they'll develop habits that demand that much salary. So she can probably never quit her job.

She'll defer having children and lavish her maternal affection on a dog or cat. He'll grow bitter because they aren't living on his salary, for this is always a wound to the masculine ego.

Then he'll criticize her unduly or try to protect his ego by growing cold toward her. She may later find him going with other women before whom he can act like the big, dominant male he aspires to be.

Should Women Work After Marriage?

If Mar-celle wishes to insure her marital happiness, she must learn to live on her husband's salary. If she wishes to work for a few months and apply her salary to the purchase of their furniture, that may be all right.

But she must not use her salary for the household budget. The rent and groceries, clothes and other expenses must be kept within her husband's income, or she'll find herself caught up in a situation out of which she cannot extricate herself. Millions of women today are only half-wives because they got caught in this gilded trap. (Copyright, 1938)

"That Ann Rutherford" is a real "magician with a needle" has been fully attested. The youthful actress is making two smart hats bloom where but one bloomed before. She has taken her last Fall crop of chapeaux and has made dozens of new ones by using the crowns for one, the brims for the other. Ann declares it is simplicity itself for any girl handy with a needle, so why not try it. "Just remember," she laughed, "this season they can't be too small, so don't worry about the size."

If you are wearing a beaded gown, have your evening sandals beaded to match. Jeanette MacDonald illustrates this point in the production, "Sweethearts", in which she is co-starred with Nelson Eddy. The singing star's gown is beaded solidly in peacock-blue bugles. The high waistline is accented with fine, gold-thread embroidery. The same beads and the same embroidery ornament her high-heeled, sandal-type slippers, creating a perfect formal ensemble.

questionable. I would like to go with two friends.

Answer: You may continue any activity that is not purely social. You would continue your interest in any civic work, club work, literary work, but you would not go to a club that had its meetings on the evenings and made festivities of the occasion. It is quite all right for you to go on a journey, and to stay in a resort if you lead a very quiet life while there. You would hardly feel like going in to the dances in a hotel or taking part in any of the social gaiety of the place.

TELEPHONING REPLIES TO INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Post: I always telephone acceptance and regret to all invitations that are not written in the third person. Am I wrong in doing this? A friend tells me that even formally third person invitations may be telephoned on occasion and that it is not a case of how the invitation itself is worded, but of how well you know the hostess.

Answer: Your friend is right. We are much more inclined to write to a hostess we know slightly and to telephone some one who is an intimate friend. The principle, however, is to answer promptly. (Copyright, 1938)

A WIFE IN MOURNING

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has died recently and I don't know whether it will be considered good taste for me to go to my literary and woman's club meetings. And how soon may I go to a resort for a change and rest? If this is not

Beauty and You by PATRICIA LINDSAY

BEAUTY AND YOU 31-13

The ape isn't so dumb! He knows, how to conserve his energies through relaxation and at the same time be master of every muscle in his active body.

The ape, my dears, can teach us two much needed lessons—how to relax and how to acquire poise! The next time you are in a zoo pay special attention to the way an ape stands as he peers at you with impertinent eyes. His knees are slightly flexed, his arms dangle loosely with palms open, his tail is tucked under. His spine and head balance "easy." But at an instant's notice the ape has full control of every muscle (including his tail) and he can madly dash yards away and climb to a swinging bar. From his new vantage point he looks at you with steady eyes and cool poise! Nothing apparently disturbs the apes we see, other than a late meal or an ill companion. He is master of the difficult art of relaxation! And because of it he has an enviable poise.

Beds, Sleep and Dreams

II—BEDS IN WESTERN EUROPE

The Anglo-Saxons of old England commonly slept on wooden benches. Often the benches were boards fastened to the walls of small rooms. The bedding was chiefly straw, sometimes covered with a sack. People who could afford it had sheets.

About 1,400 years ago, it was the custom in Germany and France for people to sleep on benches or on carpets laid on the floor. Later the bed with wooden framework and stuffed mattress came into use.

As time went on, the nobles and richer folks of western Europe had better and better beds in their homes, castles and palaces. At least the beds and the bedding became more costly. There were stuffed quilts and soft pillows, also coverlets embroidered with gold.

Many beds were fitted with heavy posts at the corners, with a roof of a sort resting on the posts. Richly-worked hangings covered the sides of some four-post beds.

During one period beds of extra-large size came into fashion. Some of these were eight feet long and seven feet wide, and others were even larger. In England we may see today an example of the extra-size beds. It is known as the "Great Bed of Ware," and is 12 feet long, and nearly as wide as it is long!

Almost 500 years ago, King Louis XI started the "bed of justice" custom in France. This king ordered a bed to be placed in the parliament building. While he lay in the bed, the French princes sat in chairs nearby. The high officers of the state stood up, and the less important officers knelt down. Later French kings followed the same custom, and it was not ended until the French Revolution.

Another strange custom in France was for a king to own many beds. If he did not rest well in one, he would try another. We have a list of 413 beds in the palaces of King Louis XIV. They were used by the king and members of the royal family, not by the servants. Some of the beds of this king were adorned with pearls, others with gold and silver work.

Another French ruler, Francis I, sent a camp-bed as a present to King Henry VIII of England. The camp-bed was covered with red velvet, and was embroidered with pearls and leaves of gold.

All-metal beds began to come into widespread use about 90 years ago. We still have all-metal beds and they have special points in their favor. One good thing about them is the ease with which they may be taken apart and moved from one place to another. Many persons, however, like wooden beds better.

The chief way we have improved modern beds is by making better mattresses, and better springs on which to rest them.

Basketball Drill Begins With Three Lettermen on Team

Non-Conference Game Will be Played at Waupaca Next Week

New London — Coach D. N. Stacy began cage practice at the Washington high school gym last night with a picked squad of 25 candidates.

The Red and White mentor has only three lettermen around which to build this year but has a good field of reserve players from which to draw.

Douglas Hoier, center, and Stewart Hammerberg, guard, were two mainstays of last year's team. The only other senior out is Kenneth Brault, a forward, who saw lots of action in "B" squad games last year.

Gordon Meiklejohn, junior, earned his letter last year playing at forward and guard and probably will land a permanent job at one or the other on the final five. Wallace Hammerberg, another junior, is slated to rise from the reserve ranks to varsity center this year. Anton Herres is another tall junior for reserve while the forward and guard positions will be open to Kenneth Ross, Kenneth Poppy, Robert Mavis and David Stern. Harold Pies is the most promising sophomore and plays a forward post.

10 Freshmen Out

Freshmen will dominate the second string squad this year with 19 candidates on the chosen list. They are James Jeffers, Robert Seering, James Kuehlman, Douglas Brown, Gene Wyman, David Ruhsam, Durand Reetz, George Meertz, James Christensen and Donald Brisco.

Juniors rank second in number with seven on the squad, all seeking berths on the varsity team. Others of the five sophomores are Allan Ziebur, Lester Schimke, Jack Collier and Howard Mannchen.

Practice started with a vigor last night in preparation for the first varsity tilt next week, a non-conference game at Waupaca Tuesday evening. The first conference game will be Nov. 25 at Clintonville.

U. W. Experts Will Talk at Institute

Outagamie and Waupaca County Potato Growers To Attend Session

New London—A potato institute sponsored by the University of Wisconsin Extension division and the New London Future Farmers of America will be held for farmers of the Waupaca and Outagamie county area at Washington high school Thursday.

Speakers from the university will include J. G. Milward who will talk on variety problems; C. J. Chapman who will discuss potato fertilizers; John Brann who will speak on general potato problems; and R. E. Vaughn who will explain various diseases, their cause and prevention. A representative of the state department of markets will tell about the grading of potatoes.

Farmers have been invited to bring peck samples of their crop to the meeting for an exhibit in the auditorium. The samples will be judged and ribbons will be awarded.

The program will begin at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in the high school auditorium and will be resumed at 1:15 in the afternoon. Arrangements have been made to furnish lunch at the school at noon.

After the program a seed identification contest will be held among members of the Future Farmer chapter.

Arrangements for the institute were made by the agricultural agents of Waupaca and Outagamie county and L. M. Warner, high school instructor.

The defendant pleaded not guilty when arraigned Saturday. A hearing had been scheduled for this morning.

Taxpayer for 67 Years Is Boast Of 90-Year-Old New London Man

New London—Hale and hearty, Charles Meertz observed his ninety-ninth birthday yesterday and recalled a lifetime of hard labor in New London's earliest industrial plants. Receiving the congratulations of some of his old friends down town was the extent of his celebration.

Longevity has been an inheritance of the family, he says. His father died in the late eighties and the only one of his immediate family surviving is his sister, Mrs. Henry Schroeder at Milwaukee, who is 82. Married 58 years, his wife died four years ago at the age of 76.

Charles Meertz came directly to New London from Germany with the family in 1870 when he was about 22. He started work immediately in an old stove factory where the American Plywood corporation now stands and eight years later went to work in the Knapstein brewery. After two years he went to work in the little sawmill on the Wolf river now the Hatten Lumber company, which during his 10 years there changed hands from Hales to Springfield and then to Weatherly, growing all the time.

The three industries were about all New London had at the time and after the sawmill Meertz went back to the brewery where he served 29 years, receiving special recognition when he quit 20 years ago.

Young Meertz learned to save the money he earned, invested in real estate, and he has been a taxpayer to the city for 67 years, ever since the first year he came here. Now he lives with his son, Otto, at 922 Lawrence street, and has four other sons, George, 331 E. Pine street; Charles, Appleton; Theodore, Oshkosh; and Richard, in Montana.

PASSES 90 MARK

New London — A taxpayer in the city of New London for the last 67 years is the boast of Charles Meertz, above, who observed his ninety-ninth birthday, hale and hearty, Monday. He came to New London direct from Germany 68 years ago and is now living with his son, Otto.

Brush Wolf Is Killed In Town of Caledonia

Wind Beats Current So Large Boathouse Is Driven Upstream

New London — The wind won out in wind versus river Sunday morning and dawn found the 3-boathouse of Lex Frank 3 1/2 blocks upstream from its usual moorings on the Wolf river and lapping contentedly at the back door of the Borden Milk Products plant.

The powerful wind which blew during the night tore the 26 by 40 foot floating shelter from its supposedly stationary fastenings and forced it upstream against the current, under the low-hanging Dorr street bridge, and left it stranded on the river front near the Borden plant.

Frank, who lives at 718 North Water street, was dumfounded to find his boathouse gone in the morning but was more bewildered to find it upstream past the bridge. The fugitive boathouse was tied down to its new location yesterday until the wind subsided.

Boat Season Ends As Last Yacht Is Taken From River

New London — The boating season of the New London Boat club was officially closed Sunday when the last of the 13 craft of members was hauled from the Wolf river. The two docks which were constructed last summer also were pulled up on shore.

Removal of boats was made easy this year by a new track and dolly which the club completed recently. About 120 feet of track has been laid, half running into the water and a 20 by 9 foot dolly carries the boats onto land.

The clubhouse has been furnished and heated to allow meetings throughout the winter and the club plans to meet there the first and third Friday evenings in every month.

Duck Hunters Get Limit On Season's Final Day

New London — The last day of the duck hunting season proved as satisfying to William Eggers and Frank Schumacher as the opening day when they each bagged their limit of 10 in an all day outing yesterday. They got their full bag from a blind with decoys on Parfitt's lake a few miles south of this city. They were the only hunters on the lake.

FINED FOR DRUNKENNESS

New London — August Vetter, 118 W. Warren street, pleaded guilty of drunkenness when arraigned before Justice Fred J. Rogers in police court yesterday morning. He was arrested by Night Officer Al Stern on North Water street Sunday night. He was fined $10 and costs of $3.95.

More than 90,000 persons from about 60 nations visited Sweden during the first eight months of 1938.
